With trust in learning and those who teach—administrators of policy pursue course of education.
Teachers and students blend with semesters' events:
resulting year,
unique in experience.
With purpose clear as sounding bell—
and endeavor pure as symbol of faith—
Winter's reward returns each spring.

ILLINOIS STATE UNIVERSITY
NORMAL, ILLINOIS
VOLUME 76

Cage—strategic ground of campus life, visited for varied reasons (often not admitted).
Atmosphere, imagination manufactured—intended to elevate existence.
Voices expressed for private ends, unite in Block of supporting cheer—demonstrate loyalty to cause.
Union lounge, campus lawn,
class notes or tender shoulder—occasions in joy of sharing.
Elements of student life,
vital parts of meaningful whole.

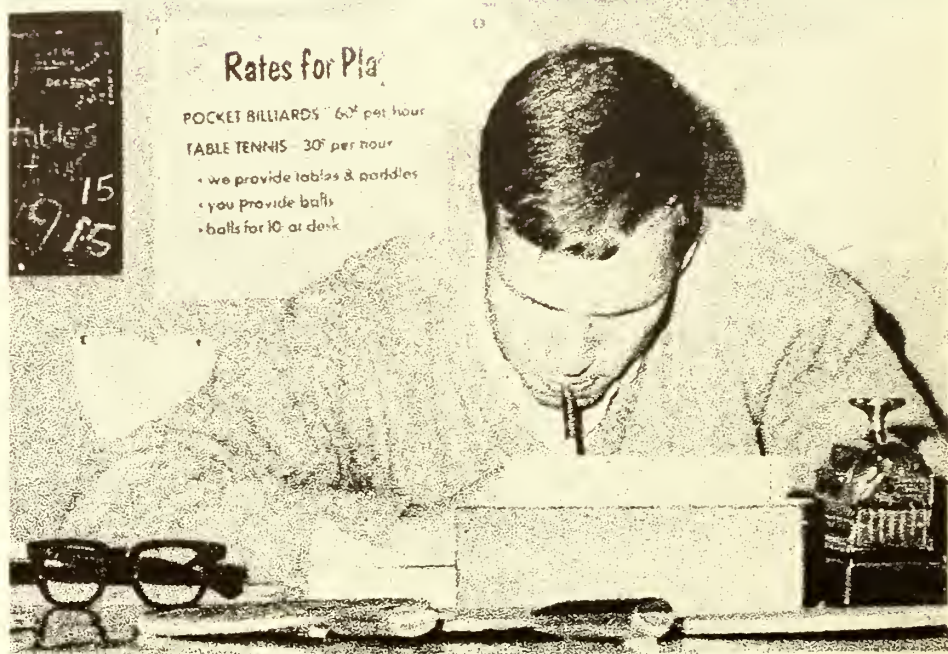

Off-campus—
 community homes for students,
 provide "different" life.
 Kinships grow over records,
 shared ash trays and places of study.
 No maids or moms to cook and clean,
 chefs and housekeepers graduate each year.
 Comfortable chairs, private phone, late night snacks, TV shows—
 single room or co-op house,
 supplements book learning,
 realistic practice in art of living.

Cold forms of concrete and steel,
soon you will live.
Towering above campus,
proud of your purpose—
you will be a home,
while students seek a richer life.
Place of noisy, quiet, happy times, provider of silent hours of study—
within your walls friendships grow, minds mature.
Memories of pals and long nights and unforgettable events linger
when those who knew you leave to earn their fortune.

Communication without sound—
 faces reveal feeling,
 hands demonstrate emotion,
 do you know their meaning?
 Run the gamut—
 What is the story?
 Eyes, they will tell you more—lips, punctuate expression—hands, what are they doing?—
 a clue is there.
 The picture is clear now,
 the meaning is known,
 you have experienced same.

Court Jester as guide, diners delight in
Wassail and Figgy Pudding—
enjoy Madrigal tradition,
with elegance performed.
Senses finer than most—artists capture more of life.
Sensitive souls and labored ideas—created in world of paint and clay, fulfilled in music and drama.
Their talents reflect, as pools of rain,
the light and shadow of substance.

From our soil—came this man of understanding,
common denominator of humankind.
Seeker of knowledge at University school—
later concerned with growth of minds, ally of education.
Left home of youth to fellows serve,
remaining in spirit of noble thought.
Governor of Illinois—
Ambassador to United Nations—devoted to peace and betterment of being.
A big man—the commoner's friend, listened to his troubled world and gave a full measure of his life.

Proclamation

Ambassador Adlai Ewing Stevenson is dead. The world mourns. The State of Illinois is in grief. It is fitting for Illinois State University to pause in honor and respect for the great statesman.

With pride we reflect upon his close association with this state, this community, and this school that was established by his great grandfather, Jesse Fell. Here in this community Adlai Stevenson was brought up. Here he attended the University High School, and here to his home prairies he will be brought for a final resting place beside his oncestors.

His vision, his eloquence, his devotion to duty are known to the world and will remain on inspiration to all Americans. His spirit is typified in one of his favorite quotations, "For I have promises to keep, and miles to go before I sleep."

It is, therefore, fitting that a moratorium on classes be declared at Illinois State University on Monday morning, July 19, 1965. At 9:30 a.m. a community memorial service will be conducted in the Horton Fieldhouse.

Now, therefore, I, Robert G. Bone, President of Illinois State University, declare that the affairs of the university for July 19, 1965 shall be conducted in the spirit of remembrance and solemnity.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Seal to be affixed.

ASSOCIATION FOR CHILDHOOD EDUCATION Seated: Drina Krajic, secretary; Ja Ellen Jahnsan, vice-president; Janel Dial, treasurer. Standing: Karen Camp, Kath Ragsdale, Chris Ilg audas, Lu Spence.

ACE

Billed as the main attraction on the activities calendar of the Association for Childhood Education was a state convention held in October at Starved Rock State Park. Tutoring at Victory Hall in Normal and work with creative dramatics and the children's theatre were among later events.

BLACKFRIARS

The annual Blackfriar show in the spring is the main event of this dramatic social fraternity. To help create school spirit, Blackfriars led pep rallies and performed in the Peace Corps hootenanny. Members participated in the Homecoming parade and the Bloomington Halloween parade.

BLACKFRIARS Seated: Steve Brunst, Larry Spialek, recording scribe; Dave Evans, Joe Gallagher, obbot; Dave Wassel, Larry Reed, Randy Chapman. Standing: Ed Litas, John Porter, corresponding scribe; Wayne DeMaar, Jim Webb, Steve Friedheim, Dave Meegan, Arnold Giles, Dean Roberts.

ENGLISH CLUB Becky Benjamin, Teresa Edwards, secretary-treasurer; Jim Ryberg, president; Scott Eatherly, adviser; Susan Jacobs, vice-president.

ENGLISH CLUB

Opening the year with a talk by adviser Scott Eatherly and a skit, the English Club later heard Robert Brome discuss "How to Sell Your Writing." Members took a mid-year trip to the University of Illinois to see "Phaedra" by Racine and a spring visit to suburban Chicago high schools.

FORENSIC UNION

The Forensic Union, a member of the national Pi Kappa Delta forensics fraternity, participated in debate tournaments at Georgetown, Dartmouth, and Northwestern. This is the only activity in which Illinois State is in competition with the leading colleges in the nation.

FORENSIC UNION John Boaz, adviser; Mary Skinner, vice-president; Helen Capeland, president; Bill Hahn, secretary.

GEOGRAPHY CLUB

Learning to relate abstract theory with practical application, Geography Club-ODIGA participated in a visual aids demonstration by a maker of maps and globes. A lecture about early settlement in Illinois and visits to the planetarium helped the members see this theory applied.

GERMAN CLUB

Learning those matters unrelated to the classroom, including poring over political and cultural information and watching movies and slides of Germany, is the focal point of the German Club. Social events centered around this purpose were two German movies and dinners in Chicago.

GERMAN CLUB John Gazo, secretary; Ingelore Kleist, vice-president; Volker Rieser, president; Wolfgang Prabel, adviser; Charlotte Tutas, treasurer.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

Pursuing the theme "Search for Tomorrow," Home Economics Club members distinguished vocational from non-vocational teachers in a discussion with Bloomington-Normal area instructors. The group attended Mr. George Barford's lecture on Frank Lloyd Wright and presented a spring fashion show.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB Cheryl Grater, secretary; Karlita Schuth, president; Janie Coe, vice-president; Rose Ragers, treasurer.

JUDO CLUB Seated: Spencer Bolick, adviser; Lyn Aubrecht, president; Tam Miles, adviser. Standing: Alan Santini, Ran Slaan, vice-president; Stan Pieper, secretary; Al Olson, Terry Green, treasurer.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS CLUB

Members of the Industrial Arts Club, attending conventions in Chicago and Northern Illinois University, directed regional and state industrial arts exhibits this year. The club also built the second winning Homecoming float in two years and distributed ISU telephone directories.

INTER-GROUP RELATIONS COUNCIL

The Inter-Group Relations Council has one main purpose in its activities. This purpose is to bring together religious, ethnic, and minority groups on campus. This goal helps promote better understanding between the various and different groups on our campus.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS CLUB Seated: Jahn Matsan, vice-president; Ray Battamley, president; Leven Dowdall, adviser. Standing: Jack Frost, treasurer; David Sharp, Gregory Habas, Kenneth R. Williams.

INTER-GROUP RELATIONS COUNCIL Karen Schabel, president; Lannie Salter, vice-president; Lorraine Rose, secretary.

JUNIOR HIGH EDUCATION CLUB

In following the trend of ISU, the Junior High Education Club became multi-purpose. Membership is no longer limited to junior high majors but is open to anyone interested in teaching on this level. Activities included a spring banquet, convention, and trips to junior high schools.

LA ESTUDIANTINA

To gain a broader cultural background of the Spanish speaking people, La Estudiantina sponsored a trip to Chicago on February 27 to see Jose Greco, the Spanish flamenco dancer. To bring deeper understanding of a great Spanish work, the movie Dona Barbara was shown.

JUNIOR HIGH EDUCATION CLUB Roselyn Jensen, corresponding secretary; Julian Kight, vice-president; Jaann Taylor, president; Cheryl Kaerper, recording secretary; Kathy Windmiller, treasurer.

LA ESTUDIANTINA Eileen McCarthy, Mary Ellen Krlcic, vice-president; Kay Gunnarsan, president; Luellen Watson, adviser; Jane Schraeder, secretary-treasurer.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

"Concours Litteraire," a speech contest sponsored by the French government, climaxed the year for Le Cercle Francais. The club also won third prize with the first Homecoming float entry. In February, a French woman prepared a seven-course French dinner for the members.

Social Science Club brought Ross Barnett to campus.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS Jim Ryberg, treasurer; Susan Palmer, vice-president; Lynette Cornwell, president; Patrick Tarrant, adviser; Gwen Haaver, secretary.

MATH CLUB

Guest lecturers speaking on topics directly and indirectly related to mathematics highlighted the professional side of the Math Club. Social functions included a Halloween dance, a Christmas party and a May Day picnic. The club increased its membership to include fifty students.

MEN'S PHYSICAL EDUCATION CLUB

The Men's Physical Education Club noticed a considerable increase in its size this year when all men on campus were automatically made members. Their meetings were highlighted by guest speakers from Illinois State as well as from other universities.

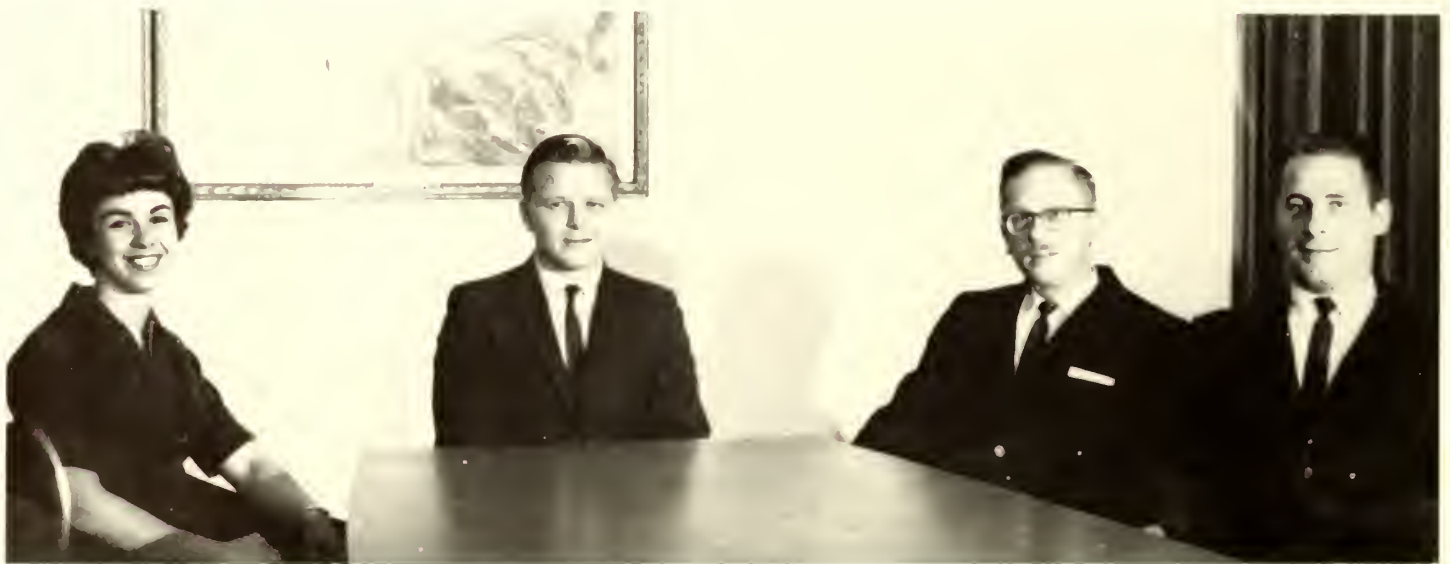

MEN'S PHYSICAL EDUCATION CLUB Richard Regez, vice-president; John Major, president; Lee Johnson, secretary; Vic Buehler, treasurer.

MATH CLUB Phyllis Struck, secretary; Ron Lyford, vice-president; Joylin Bloomberg, president; John Eslin, adviser; Koy Vonderby, treasurer; Liz Steinhouser.

NAACP Seated: Marva Askew, recording secretary; Mary Parker, corresponding secretary; Betty Lloyd, president; Rochelle Harlan, vice-president. Standing: Scott Eatherly, adviser; Curtis Carter, treasurer; Gordon Ferguson, adviser.

NAACP

Besides sponsoring two all-school dances, NAACP collaborated with the Bloomington NAACP to foster open-occupancy and equal job opportunities in the twin cities. On a broader scale, the students conducted fund and book drives to send aid and materials to southern Negro colleges.

NATURALIST CLUB

Dr. Streever of the University of Chicago and Dr. Dale of Illinois Wesleyan lectured to the members of the Naturalist Club. One of the oldest organizations on campus, the club also held an introductory picnic and an alumni open house at Homecoming to get the year started.

WOMEN'S PHYSICAL EDUCATION CLUB Seated: Cheryl Tillery, secretary; Ellen Abshire, adviser; Janice Harton, president; Betty Keough, adviser; Annette Rutt, vice-president. Standing: Joy Read, Naomi Ross, Gwen Doyle, Martha Sprecher, Koy Hannah, Carol Golas, Sue Richardson, Judy Edwards, Marsha Halliday, Jaan Love, Sallie Johnson, Joan Longelifer, Mo-y Amonn.

WOMEN'S PHYSICAL EDUCATION CLUB

In the acquisition of professional understanding and training in the physical education field, the Women's Physical Education Club heard Mr. Todd speak on recreational activities. Other activities included a retreat at the beginning of the year and a senior breakfast.

PHI BETA LAMBDA

Sponsoring the second annual computer dance this spring was the most fascinating endeavor of Phi Beta Lambda, the professional business fraternity accredited by the National Education Association. The ISU chapter hosted a workshop last fall for the officers of all the state chapters.

PHYSICAL SCIENCE Leslie Hegstad, secretary; Michael Barnes, vice-president; Michael Ryder, president; Richard Reiter, adviser; Gary Orwig, treasurer.

PHYSICAL SCIENCE CLUB

A faculty panel, consisting of John Crew, Ronald Cook, Bernard Ryder, and Thaddeus Ichniowski, discussed graduate school and career opportunities for the Physical Science Club. Activities included sponsoring an all-school dance, spring and fall picnics, and a Christmas party.

SOCIAL SCIENCE Seated: JaAnn McCristan, Ralph Eckard, president; Robert Walsh, adviser. Standing: Barb Maziarz, treasurer; Russ Marko, vice-president; Verna Jahnsen, secretary.

SOCIAL SCIENCE CLUB

Governor Ross Barnett of Mississippi was the featured speaker for the Social Science Club. To broaden the members' experience in social science, the club sponsored a Peace Corps worker and a Scope Worker. A member of the John Birch Society gave a lecture during the second semester.

SPECIAL EDUCATION CLUB

Among the activities sponsored by the Special Education Club were Y-night for exceptional children of the community and an annual Christmas party for indigent children. The club also sponsored a Student Council for Exceptional Children, a toy workshop, and a dance in the second semester.

STUDENT EDUCA- TIONAL ASSOCIATION

Working to interest students in education as a profession, the Student Educational Association heard the National Coordinator, Richard Carrigan, and the State Coordinator, Wendel Kennedy, speak at the October meeting. "Why Join a Professional Organization?" was their topic.

STUDENT EDUCATIONAL ASSOCIATION Seated: Katy Ragsdale, vice-president; William Zeller, adviser; Sharan Marse, president; Leonard Brubaker, adviser; Lila Gumble, secretary. Standing: Barbara Dennis, Dick Walsh, treasurer, Carol Barr.

STUDENT PSYCHOLOGICAL ASSN.

To get people together who are interested in psychology, to provide experience not realized in the classroom, and to arouse interest in psychology are the three main goals of the Student Psychological Association. Activities include steadiness tests, mirror drawings, and lectures.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS

The Young Democrats have had various well-known speakers this year, including Robert Marks, a former Illinois legislator. Besides entering a float in the Homecoming parade, their major project for the past term has been working on registering voters in the precincts.

STUDENT PSYCHOLOGICAL ASSOCIATION Paul Pearson, vice-president; Joanne Halker, Gary Gahm, president.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS Seated: Linda Griffin, secretary; Walter Kohn, adviser; Carl Kosten, president; William Frinsko, adviser; Jahn Tadt, vice-president. Standing: Larie Gaadanaugh, treasurer; Jacqueline Davis.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS Ran Vovrinek, president; Jon Borger, secretary; Alice Ebel, adviser; Jahn Young, vice-president.

Many clubs on campus brought speakers who discussed their various views on controversial subjects.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS

The purposes of the Young Republicans' Club are twofold: introducing people to and promoting interest in politics. To carry out this purpose, the club sponsored speakers such as William Springer, Paul Findley, both U.S. Congressmen, John Altorfer, and Elroy Sandquist.

INDEX

This year the Index had a new look right from the beginning section to the staff picture at the end. The beginning section used off-set printing to set it apart from the rest of the book. Pictures were not explained by captions but by prose that tied in the whole page. More, bigger color pictures were used. Also this year, the layout of the book was changed from two column to three column. This change enabled many varied pages with emphasis on certain affairs or events. This layout system was carried out throughout the book, including the cover with three textures.

The theme of the book was mood. Everything from the pictures to the copy tried to exemplify this theme. Typical of such a picture is the one of the Index editors on the last page. A university and its students have many moods and the 1965-66 Index tried to describe these moods.

VIDETTE

To Inform and Interest

"Can we have that story sometime before the semester's over?" the news editor quizzed the cub reporter. "Old news does tend to disconcert the reader."

In the background the typewriters chattered and the phones sang out incessantly. The fleeing reporter caught the echoes of "Deadline at noon" as he collided with the copy editor in the doorway. The strains of "Make that copy neat" followed the cub down the hall.

The editor was looking for the managing editor and the managing editor was after the ad man. In and out shuffled reporters, copy-readers, sports-writers, and irate readers with their fingers curled around letters to the editor. The cartoonist ambled in with his contribution, while the office manager gazed at the mound of news releases obscuring the u-shaped work table. The business manager stared at his ledger, which stared back.

These hours give birth to two issues each week—from reporting, editing, and rewriting to printing, proof-reading, layout, and the finished product—The Vidette, "To Inform, Interest, and Involve."

ASSOCIATION OF WOMEN STUDENTS

Helpful Service

Working for the women on campus, the student body, and the community, the Association of Women Students extends helpful service throughout the year. For the pleasure of the women of ISU, the AWS sponsors Women's Week, including style show, banquet, and Mr. MIG dance. The community is bettered by AWS in the form of Thanksgiving baskets to needy families and the monetary support to the DeYoung Lecture Series by selling mums at Homecoming. On March 26 for the enjoyment of the entire student body and the benefit of a worthy charity, AWS sponsored the annual Spring Carnival. AWS sponsors many activities with U Club. Dad's Day offered a new interest to the fathers this year. Added to the usual football game and presentation of the autographed football, was a new car showing in Horton. This year the club hosted the AWS State Day. Dean Chesebro gave a speech entitled, "Put a Tiger in Your Tank" to the twenty-seven delegates representing fourteen schools.

Uniting to provide spirit and service for the entire student body, the University Club is primarily concerned with social activities in its yearly program. It organized the Annual Stunt Show, which was held on April 28, 29, and 30, and sponsored several dances throughout the year including the Freshman Mixer and All-School Mixer with AWS. This year the club established a new scholarship awarded to a deserving senior man each semester as he begins his student teaching.

Two thousand people signed the supporting letter to Viet Nam.

"Something should be done about those cab fares," was heard many times on the campus last fall. The complaint was brought before the Student Senate and soon a bus shuttle service began for the students until settlement was reached with the cab company. ISU Senate was well-represented when the first annual convention of the Associated Student Governments met at Purdue University last fall. Such projects as teacher evaluation, voluntary classroom attendance and lowering apartment ownership age to 21, kept the Senators busy throughout the year. In the various sub-committees much was done to improve campus and community relations. Student Senators sold tickets for a basketball game between the Puerto Rican Olympic Team and the ISU team. All of these and many more activities have helped the Senate more fully realize its potential and become the heart and voice of the student body.

ADVISORY COUNCIL FOR TRANSFER STUDENTS

During its first complete year, the Advisory Council for Transfer Students supplied student leaders, who had transferred previously, for the new transfer students in February. Also the council is taking a survey of the difficulties which a student encounters when transferring to a four-year college; from this survey, they will try to solve some of the problems of transfer students.

ISU STUDENT TUTORIAL PROJECT

In order to give scholastic assistance and to be available as a friend at three schools in the Bloomington-Normal area, Illinois Soldier's and Sailor's Children's School, Booker T. Washington Home, and Lucy Morgan Home, approximately two hundred tutors worked for the ISU Student Tutorial Project. This was the first year that the project had been recognized as an independent organization.

CO-OP COUNCIL

The Co-op Council represents the presidents and one representative from each of the co-op houses. Activities this year were a Homecoming float and a Christmas dance. The council assigns a traveling trophy to the house with the highest average to promote better study.

INTER-DORM COUNCIL

To begin the year, the Inter-dorm Council sent twelve delegates to the Midwestern Association of College and University Residence Halls at Kansas State where they discussed co-ed living in dormitories. The Council is making a file of bands and services available to students.

INTER-DORM COUNCIL Jane Schroeder, treasurer; Diane Umland, president; Barbara Lazzaretti, secretary.

MOROC Mark Robinson, secretary-treasurer; Randy Wonzong, president; Rich Schingel, vice-president; Charles McBriarty, adviser.

MOROC

The Men's Organization of Representatives Off-Campus is devoted to bringing students into campus life. The club represents and protects the interests of the men, communicating between off-campus and on-campus and using consistency and reason in the off-campus regulations.

WOC

Women Off-Campus is an organization to unite all the women off-campus and through this unification to improve housing conditions, to voice opinions of housing regulations, and to present a solid front to the university. Members held a dance in the fall to raise money.

WOC Maria Miller, treasurer; Judith Mathieson, president; Pat Parker, vice-president; Judy Battenschlag, secretary.

UNIVERSITY UNION BOARD

Tenth Birthday for Union

With plans for a new union, the functions of this board are continually increasing in importance. This year the board has worked in co-operation with the Wesleyan Center Board to present programs; on December 4, they co-sponsored a pool tournament and on September 25, co-sponsored the Good Will dance following the football game. A new innovation by the board was a Soap Box Derby on January 9 held to get all complaints on the union. Three lecture series were featured: "Look at the World" series where professors or people of the community speak on their travels, "Professor's Last Lecture," with a professor speaking on any subject of interest to him, and "Focus on Fine Arts" presenting all types of art. This year is the tenth birthday of the union and to celebrate it a building open house was held on May 14.

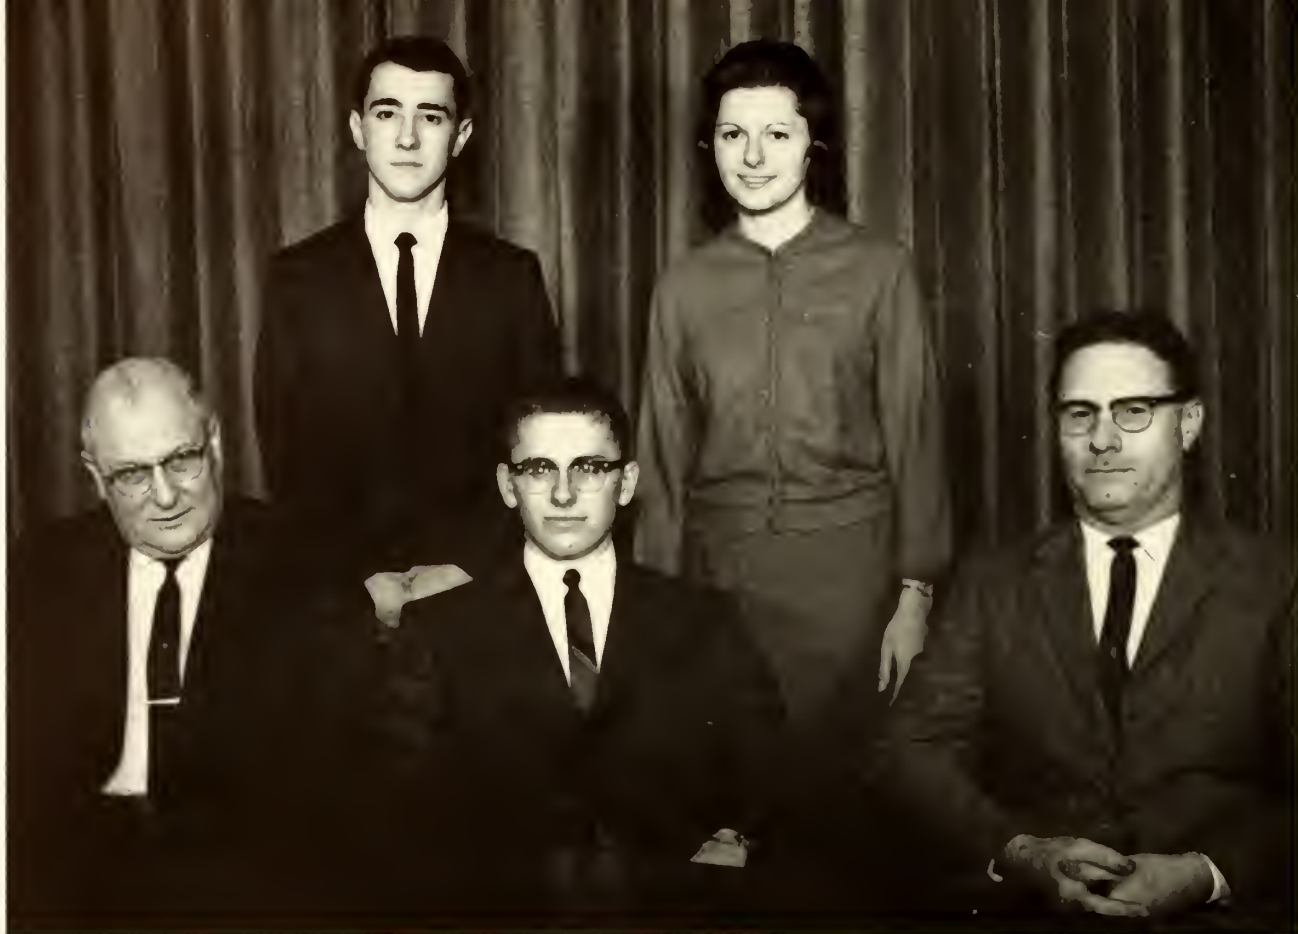

The smiling face and cheerful voice of a WGLT announcer starts the entertainment for another day.

Engineers put into practice what they learn.

WGLT FM Broadcasting for Campus

With a staff of more than eighty people, WGLT this year extended its services by using simul-casting. This system provides AM broadcasting to dormitories and the new FM broadcasting to a fifteen mile radius of the surrounding community. The first FM broadcast was an introductory speech by President Bone wishing the station success with their new venture. The FM station, 91.7 on the radio dial, is mainly for educational purposes while the AM station is used for the training of new engineers and announcers. There have been several new additions to the program of the station. "ISU Presents" provides entertainment from the university—a lecturer, a discussion, a musical group, or a drama. "Calendar" provides music interspersed with a listing of events in the community and on campus. The station also airs all major sports events—basketball, football, and baseball games. With both AM and FM broadcasting WGLT begins a day's entertainment by saying "you're on."

APOSTOLIC CHRISTIAN BIBLE CLASS Seated: J. B. Schrock, adviser; Doryle Hori, president; Milford Jochums, adviser. Standing: Wayne Droyer, vice-president; Shelby Culp, secretary-treasurer.

President Bone talks with Worren Wiggins, Deputy Director, one of the speakers on campus during Peace Corps week.

APOSTOLIC CHRISTIAN BIBLE CLASS

The highlight of the year for the Apostolic Christian Bible Class was the Easter program presented by members and various area pastors. Gathering every Thursday evening to study and discuss the Bible, this close fellowship carried on the meeting with visiting ministers as guests.

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

"Only Believe," this year's theme of the Baptist Student Union, was carried out in a variety of activities. Among them were a preschool retreat at Lake of the Woods and a statewide convention in Champaign in November. The club's new center on Normal Avenue was opened this year.

B'NAI B'RITH HILLEL

By setting up a lecture series and by putting on several services at the temple in Bloomington, B'nai B'rith Hillel maintained and cultivated Jewish traditions that are in the home. The club sponsored an all-school dance in April and a Homecoming dinner for alumni.

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION Moureen German, secretary-treasurer; Carol Holt, vice-president; Ann Claybourne, president; Patsy Waltus, adviser; Betty Crawford, Thoma Thompson.

B'NAI B'RITH HILLEL Irv Zucker, treasurer; Shoron Zyontz, vice-president; Steve Friedheim, president; Mr. Moskowitz, adviser; Donno Shovitz, secretary.

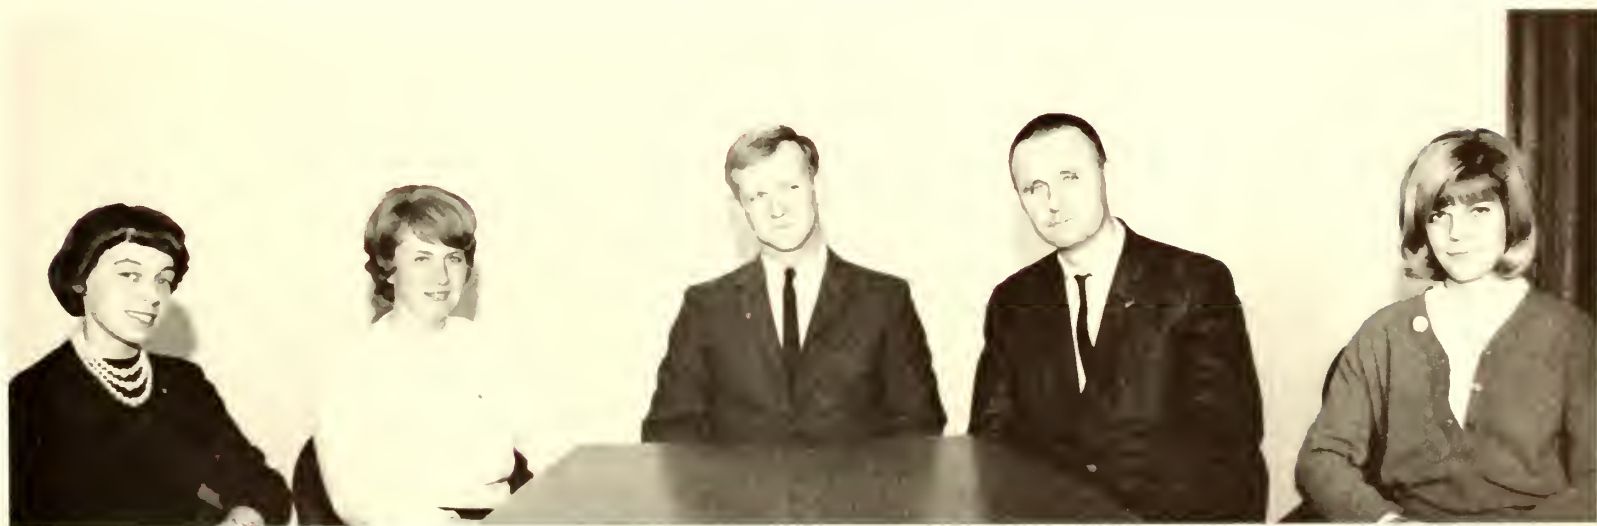

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Various topics were discussed each week at the regular testimonial meeting of the Christian Science Organization. Two lecturers from the mother church in Boston, Massachusetts, were guests of the club. A Thanksgiving service was held prior to the Thanksgiving vacation.

EUB FELLOWSHIP

Highlighting the year for the EUB Fellowship was a singspiration and production of the Lord's Supper. The group presented a chance for Christian fellowship and for seeking the importance of Christianity to campus life. Sunday evening meetings were concluded with cost supper.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE ORGANIZATION June Lanngren, Margaret MacKay, secretary; Dave Hand, president; David Sweet, adviser; Sue Crane, treasurer.

EUB FELLOWSHIP Seated: Daug Cunningham, vice-president; Dennis Parick, president; Lais Jett, adviser. Standing: Karen Adams, Grace Miller, Mary Skeltan, secretary; Tany Hawkins, treasurer.

IVCF G. Harlowe Evans, adviser; Margaret Sieg, secretary; Ken Smith, treasurer.

GAMMA DELTA

Greek letters forming the name of Gamma Delta signify gnosis, Christian knowledge, and diskonia, service. Sponsored by the Lutheran Church and on campus for the first year, Gamma Delta had activities including a mission festival, a modern music program, and two workshops.

IVCF

Illinois State will be the meeting place of a leadership seminar for Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship. Officers of chapters from Bradley, Southern Illinois University, and the University of Illinois were represented. The month of January was designated as mission month.

NEWMAN CLUB Seated: Glaria Thomas, vice-president; Philip O'Leary, adviser; Jim Simka, president; T. C. Ichniowski, adviser; Father Hughes, chaplain. Standing: Pete Gooding, Peg Mangan, Jayce Grant, secretary; Eileen Weyer, secretary; Ed Sandersan, vice-president; Peggy Drazine, Barbara Grabawski, Dan Bevenaur, treasurer.

NEWMAN CLUB

Renovating its library to form a chapel, Newman Club became an official parish with a resident chaplain and daily Mass. Meeting the spiritual and social needs of 1600 Catholic members, the club offered inquiry classes, Advent and Lenten devotions, picnics, and The Cardinal Crier.

STUDENT RELIGIOUS LIBERALS

Instead of holding organized weekly meetings as in previous years, the Student Religious Liberals dedicated itself to the publicity of its church's activities. However, a few meetings were planned for the year with guest speakers such as Dr. Stone from Illinois Wesleyan.

WESLEY FOUNDATION

Carrying out their theme of bringing to the students what is already available, the Wesley Foundation heard Dr. James Fisher speak on Existentialism and Reverend Watts of Normal. The club sought to try to get the students to give something of themselves for themselves.

Naturally, a breakdown in the middle of the Homecoming parade.

ALPHA BETA ALPHA

"Doors to Librarianship" is the theme for Alpha Beta Alpha, honorary library science fraternity. To open new doors, de Lafayette Reid, Deputy State Librarian, spoke at a Founder's Day luncheon. The annual book fair, a sale of paperback books, was held March 22 and 23 in Milner library.

ALPHA TAU ALPHA

Mr. William Plager, secretary of the American Yorkshire Club, was guest speaker at the annual chili supper of Alpha Tau Alpha, honorary agriculture fraternity. In the spring, the fraternity honored the outstanding senior agriculture student of the year at the Holbart Medal Banquet.

ALPHA BETA ALPHA Maureen Brady, secretary-treasurer; Caral Adlaff, president; Bonnie Cullisan, vice-president; Maralia Keefe.

DELTA OMICRON

The purposes of Delta Omicron, international music fraternity for women, are to inspire closer friendship among women music students and to stimulate greater growth in the performance and appreciation of good music. Striving for this goal, each member performs in a musical each month.

ETA SIGMA PHI Patricia Hacenic, secretary; Gerry Day, president; Susan Richards, vice-president.

ETA SIGMA PHI

Newly installed in May of 1965, Illinois State's chapter of Eta Sigma Phi, the classics honorary, spent its first year comparing and contrasting Greek and Roman institutions through monthly student lectures. In November, members visited the Classical Museum at the University of Illinois.

GAMMA THETA UPSILON Mary Ann Middleton, vice-president; Paul Mattingly, adviser; Penny Skirm, secretary; Clay Loudan, president.

IOTA LAMBDA SIGMA George Baird, secretary; Claude Bell, adviser; Gene Nelsan, president; William Wilber, treasurer.

GAMMA THETA UPSILON

Arthur Watterson spoke on the "Varying Agricultural Techniques in Europe" to the members of Gamma Theta Upsilon. Meetings of this honorary geography fraternity featured a speaker discussing a subject of geographical interest. The club sponsored a sock hop in the Fairchild Solarium.

IOTA LAMBDA SIGMA

Frederick Kagy, a new faculty member, spoke on "The Significance of Industrial Education in an Industrial Society" to Iota Lambda Sigma. The professional industrial education fraternity also provided an opportunity for discussion of new ideas between students, alumni, and faculty.

KAPPA DELTA EPSILON

The theme of Kappa Delta Epsilon this year is "The Teacher in Contemporary Affairs." This organization is accomplishing insight into the problems of a modern teacher through meetings and speakers discussing school laws and atypical children. Members attended a regional convention.

KAPPA DELTA PI

At one of the fall meetings of Kappa Delta Pi, men's and women's honorary fraternity, Dr. Donald Davis, professor of Russian history, spoke. His topic was "Ten Theses of Communism—An Experiment in Exegesis." Fund-raising drives throughout the year ended with a banquet in the spring.

KAPPA DELTA EPSILON Seated: Dinah Mobus, vice-president; Dorothy Jacobs, adviser; Patricio Swan, president; Potricio Chesebro, adviser; Eleanor Drescher, secretary. Standing: Barbara Bollmeier, Penelope Skirm, Karen Comp, treasurer; Jonet Diol, Jo Ellen Johnson.

KAPPA DELTA PI Seated: Gole Moore, Lawrence Olson, vice-president; Nancy Delaney, president; David Livery, adviser; Susan Gansman, secretary. Standing: Morjorie Verploetse, treasurer; Potricio Swan.

KAPPA MU EPSILON

The students in Kappa Mu Epsilon, writing a paper for membership, reported on their papers at several of their meetings. By doing this, the national mathematics fraternity gave future members who qualified an idea of the club's purpose. The club sponsored a hootenanny in November.

KAPPA OMICRON PHI

"Women Around the World" is this year's theme for Kappa Omicron Phi, home economics honorary. To broaden their horizons or outlook on other nations, the members heard Miss Bremer speak about her trip around the world. Nancy Brown discussed her experiences living on an Israelan farm.

PHI ETA SIGMA

In the spring of 1965, Phi Eta Sigma, freshman men's scholastic honorary, was first organized on this campus with the purpose of encouraging and rewarding freshman scholarship among men students. The honorary has aided in the founding of Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman scholastic sorority.

PHI MU ALPHA

Phi Mu Alpha, the newly organized men's music honorary, is interested in advancing the cause of music in America. Striving to reach this goal, members of the fraternity presented a recital of American music by both noted American composers and chapter members.

PHI MU ALPHA Seated: Tubol Holmes, vice-president; J. Byron McKinstry, president; Lloyd Farlee, adviser. Standing: Rod Christian, treasurer; Robert A. Liska, Ken Williams.

PI GAMMA MU Seated: Ruth Ann Beiermann, vice-president; Patricia Luthe, president; Lucile Tasher, adviser. Standing: Donald Keck, vice-president; Douglas Leman, treasurer.

PI GAMMA MU

In November, Pi Gamma Mu, the social science fraternity, aroused student interest with a debate on teachers' unions versus the National Education Association. Various guest speakers, as well as our own professors, gave special lectures at meetings throughout the year.

PI OMEGA PI Seated: Karen Beswich, vice-president; Stephen Hallam, president; Worren Perry, adviser. Standing: Norm Waltzer, Janet Foley, treasurer; Vivienne Ellis, secretary.

PI OMEGA PI

Pi Omega Pi, national business education honorary, worked on a national project competing with other national chapters. After members sent out questionnaires to the other chapters concerning money-making projects, they compiled the information and sent it back to the chapters.

SIGMA TAU DELTA Seated: Ferman Bishop, adviser; Jerry Maskus, president; William Hact, vice-president; Marilyn Thomas, secretary. Standing: Alan Harrid, Ronald Miazga, Michael Payne, treasurer.

THETA ALPHA PHI Jane Gleisner, Dick Mishler, Sandi Zielinski, secretary-treasurer; Fred Myer, Diane Hablit.

SIGMA TAU DELTA

The main purposes of Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English fraternity, are promoting better standards of individual expression through writing, encouraging worthwhile reading and familiarizing the members with literature. To carry these out, members of the club publish the Triangle.

THETA ALPHA PHI

As host of the National Theta Phi convention in April, the ISU chapter of the dramatics honorary was able to promote good quality theater activity. Each chapter presented plays typifying the ideas of today's theater and displayed exhibits of scenic or costume designs.

THETA ALPHA TAU Seated: Beth Siniscalchi, treasurer; Gayle R. Bouman, president; Perry Ragauzis, adviser; Gail Wedgewaad, vice-president.

THETA ALPHA TAU

To acquaint people with the work of Theta Alpha Tau, the honorary art fraternity sponsored a display of their students' art work at surrounding high schools. To further develop the members' inner growth, Joanne Gavatin, an alumnus, spoke on "An Alum Looks at Teaching."

Honar Residents have many duties, including running the intercom system. One cannot make an announcement and play a record at the same time.

HONOR RESIDENTS

A Time-Consuming Job

Honor residents are people who enjoy being busy. They are the ones who are up until the wee hours of the morning. Along with counseling girls on their floors, they work on skits for the girls in September, for Homecoming, for Halloween, for Stunt Show, and for Christmas. This year the honor residents paraded through the halls of the dormitories singing Christmas carols. They held a workshop before the beginning of school to acquaint the new members with their duties and also had a retreat in the spring. Many other meetings were also held by the honor residents, some with university professors who gave talks on counseling. The days are short for these girls but the rewards and problems which they experience are invaluable. They gain much insight in meeting situations with maturity and the importance which it demands.

Whirlwind of activities for queen

This year's Homecoming queen was Mary Jean Fleming from Colchester, Illinois. After going through an interview, a rigorous campaign, and a vote by the student body, Mary Jean, from Mai Kai house, came out on top being the first official off-campus Homecoming queen in ISU's history. Mary Jean also had the privilege of being the first Miss Illinois State. A whirlwind of activities began for the queen after she received her traditional red rose a week before the Homecoming weekend. The queen and her court ate dinners in all the dorms, some of the times with Dr. Bone. Mary Jean also invited the Bloomington-Normal Rotary Clubs and the Men's club in Bloomington to the Homecoming game and activities. She was also on television and had an interview on the radio. The court rode on a float where the queen rode on top in a cage to go along with the theme of "A Thousand and One Nights." After waving to all the people from her float, Mary Jean went to the game. There she was borne in a carriage pulled by matched Hackney ponies. At the center of the football field, she was escorted to the podium where she welcomed all of ISU's students and alumni. The evening of the Homecoming game was the dance. In a world of flying carpets and rich tapestries, Mary Jean danced around the floor with President Bone. Slowly the evening came to a close but a touch of the Oriental remained. All of ISU retired with a satisfied feeling of choosing a beautiful queen and a lovely court.

The queen's float represented a harem, and what a lovely harem at that. All the court was present to smile becomingly at the crowds of students and alumni, while the Queen was the most regal in a cage-like throne at the top of the harem. The game was next on the agenda of the activity-filled day and all the students and visitors moved to Hancock Field. There at half time Dr. Bone stood in his bright red vest and greeted everyone warmly. The day, which began cold and clear, became cloudy and colder as the game progressed, but the crowd remained as truly loyal Turks.

In the evening everyone went to the dance, which was decorated for the theme, "A Thousand and One Nights." There was flowing drapery around the dance floor. The Queen and her court were officially recognized and the Queen whirled around the dance floor with Dr. Bone.

The rest of the Turks enjoyed the Eastern atmosphere and all seemed satisfied as the big, yellow moon went down out of sight in the far distant sands. Thus, the time Ali Baba visited ISU and moved all the students to follow him into the realm of mysterious, oriental ways came to an end.

President Bone joins in the fun and festivities.

Harems were everywhere.

Sheiks, Ali Baba's, and dancing girls descended on ISU's campus for Homecoming this year. The oriental air pervaded the whole of ISU both on and off-campus.

A week before Homecoming Mary Jean Fleming was chosen Queen of "A Thousand and One Nights." Homecoming had begun. While she was busy inviting Rotary Clubs and Men's Clubs to ISU's festivities, the rest of the school was putting all their time and effort toward the oriental theme and turning ISU into an oasis.

West Complex won first place in the on-campus contest. Their design consisted of a castle and a story of how the Red Bird Turks were going to conquer the Central Michigan Indians. There were other decorations of flying carpets moving through the air with Indians taken away on them. And Genies were telling in menacing tones who was going to win the game.

El Adel won the off-campus house decorations contest in which there were more entries than ever before. El Adel "Treasured a Victory" and showed it by an Indian head popping out of a treasure chest. Other houses also had Genies and dancing girls. The aura of Eastern life pervaded Normal. These house decorations were seen at their best on Friday evening—all with sayings like "The Redbirds will win today." The next day, the ISU Turks were up bright and early. Ahead of them all was Sahib Bone riding his camel to add flavor and the final touch that was to make the Homecoming spirit complete. Dressed according to Eastern custom, he waved to the people, and probably spoke Arabic to the camel to make it behave.

Floats were in hues of pinks and blues and yellows depicting football players running across sand to a victory between two palm trees. The clowns and the traditional marching bands from all over the state kept the parade moving.

CHRISTMAS

Holiday Happiness for All

The traditional madrigal dinners open the Christmas season filled with festivity, happiness, and celebration.

Christmas season at ISU began with the traditional Christmas tree lighting by President Bone. Afterwards everyone was invited to hot chocolate and donuts and the Christmas season had begun. The Union was cheerily decorated with boughs and holly going around the staircase. One of the festive activities was the madrigal dinners in the Union, which was decorated with candle chandeliers and Christmas trimmings. Christmas trees were all over campus from the universal tree in the quadrangle to the dorms to the houses off-campus; one even had a teddy bear beneath it. The dances were richly colored with reds and greens and were headed by such charming and memorable names as "Pres de Noel," "Tis the Season," and "Fantasy in Frost." Formal situations for people to get in the festive mood included reception lines.

Dancing in the realm of mistletoe and merriment.

Stockings were hung by the fireplace with care.

Ralph Marterie signs autographs for some of the couples who came to listen and dance to his music.

The purpose of Big Four is to create school enthusiasm among the students by presenting four big name bands. The bands which performed at the Big Four dances this season were Peter Palmer, Jimmy Dorsey, Ralph Marterie, and Warren Covington. Jay and the Americans performed for the special concert. This year's Big Four committee consisted of eighty members, chosen from among students who turned in applications. The committee members were selected by the sponsor and the executive committee. All of the coordinating involved in presenting the Big Four concerts is done by the students on the committee. The organization is self-sufficient in that it receives no appropriations from the university. All of the money used to contract the bands comes from the sale of Big Four season tickets in the fall.

A night of lovely music leaves many memories.

DANCES

Typical College Event

Dances of all degree of formality are typical of college life. Various dances enable students to express their emotions while relaxing the pressure of school.

"Twilight over Tara" was the theme for the annual Sophomore Cotillion held in the University Union. Dancing in a blossoming southern garden, couples gazed at the veranda of a colonial mansion, the stage setting for the crowning of the queen and king. When couples decided to rest from the beautiful music of Bud Kernet and his orchestra, they could cross over a stream separating the dance floor and the lounge by means of a bridge. Refreshments were served in the Red Door which was transformed into a Mississippi showboat, the "Robert E. Lee," which featured student entertainment reminiscent of the old minstrel shows.

MUSIC GROUPS

Add Quality to Living

Music has power to write and solidify social groups from the family to the world community. Music can communicate feelings and emotions despite language barriers. Music enriches and dignifies man's social activities, ceremonies, and worship. Music gives evidence of permanence, stability, and order in our changing world. Music is a warmly human creative and performing art and offers many opportunities to satisfy the needs to explore, experiment, and create. The beauty of music adds quality to living, and helps people learn how to live on a higher plane. It also offers a means to release tensions of life that are so prevalent in college years.

Emotions common to all men find expression through artistic form. Music has something to offer everyone, regardless of character or personality. Music contributes to the life of feeling in a way that language cannot. It is not bound by meaning. Where words stop, music begins.

In music each can find his own expression and create his own interpretation. What a person gives to music is what he will receive. One of the main purposes in teaching music through university band, orchestra, choirs, and choruses is to understand and appreciate aesthetic qualities of music. Beauty is an essential element in the health and happiness of mankind. Music should also transmit the cultural heritage because music, man, and living are one. Creativity should also be fostered. Music enjoyed through student opportunities provides worthy recreation, improves physical and mental health, and develops intellectual capacities. Because music is an accurate reflection of humanity through the ages, no program of general education can omit it without failing to meet acceptable standards. If one function of education is to acquaint the individual with his environment, his music must be included for it is an integral part of that environment.

In one sense we may speak of music as a universal language, one that transcends the barriers men put up against each other. Song is the most natural form of music. The choirs and bands of Illinois State University know this is the most important factor in music. This directness of expression is found in the many concerts performed by all of such organizations on our campus. Both the performers and the audience enjoy the beauty and art of music at these various concerts held throughout the school year.

Music for recreation, for communication, or for emotional expression is an important part of modern man's life. Even the economic system bends to its force. Music is used for everything from selling products, to increasing efficiency in factories and offices, to providing therapy for the ill, to commemorate every important occasion from the Homecoming parade to the Centennial pageant. Man is a social being and music is a social art, thus man and music go hand in hand with one another. Music is a part of the world about us, and part of our lives.

The Language of Emotions

Music has been called the language of emotions; for music, like language aims to communicate meaning. Music suggests elusive states of mind. And it enchants, endears, and entertains.

The Men's Glee Club, under the direction of Dr. Lloyd Farlee, has entertained extensively throughout the year. The men sang at the Administration Roundup, sang at the Christmas tree lighting, and serenaded the various girls' dorms in the spring. They presented concerts in January and April on campus. During April 19 and 20, they toured and presented concerts at Wenona, Kankakee, Lockport, Grant Park, and Thornton Fractional South.

Both the Women's Treble and the Women's Chorus are under the direction of Dr. John Terwilliger. On March 29 and 30, the Women's Chorus went on tour and presented concerts at Yorkville, Lake Zurich, Oregon, Mount Morris, and Rock Falls, Illinois. There were approximately 115 singers making the tour. Members also presented a Christmas program of sacred music.

Dr. James Roderick is the musical director of the University Choir and Oratorio. Oratorio presented two concerts this year, one last fall and one this spring. On March 16 and 17, the University Choir made a tour. In May they presented a concert with the orchestra. They sang at the Stevenson Memorial, and finished the year by singing at graduation.

LOWELL MASON MENC

Time and Work

Music majors, minors, and resource people compose the membership of Lowell Mason MENC. Pledges had both a formal and an informal initiation. New members of the music department faculty performed at one of the fall meetings. MENC representatives went to the IMEA district meeting in Urbana, and to the 19th Annual Midwest Band Concert in Chicago. The Lowell Mason production of "110 in the Shade," ran for four nights, February 25th through the 28th. In the spring members of the club traveled to Chicago to see and hear the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra. Other activities included two Homecoming receptions, a hayrack ride, and Christmas caroling.

The Jesters, a service organization for the University Theatre, is continuing with Theta Alpha Phi in sponsoring the program of classical and unusual film series which was initiated last year. They have presented several Laurel and Hardy silent films as well as "The Andalusian Dog," "Citizen Kane," and numerous others.

Besides this major project and co-sponsoring an all-student University Theatre production, Jesters also helped Theta Alpha host its national convention here on campus during April of this year.

Time of Your Life, a play by William Sarayan, was a production by Jesters and Theta Alpha Phi.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

Cultural Experience

Too often theatre on college campuses is thought of as "a closed corporation" for the benefit of a few initially gifted and covetous individuals. The University Theatre of Illinois State provides a program which offers a meaningful cultural experience for the entire student body. In the past year, two new studio theatres have opened, affording further opportunity in the experimental theatre. Also in April of this year, the national convention of the Theta Alpha Phi was held here.

The seasonal plays produced by the Theatre this year included "Biedermann and the Firebugs", "Rumpelstiltskin", "Inherit the Wind", and "Royal Gambit."

The Swingle Singers came onto the musical scene several years ago with their singing interpretations of the music of Bach, Handel, Mozart, and Beethoven.

Robert Goulet delighted the audience when he appeared with Ralph Mortier and the Greenwood County Singers.

This year's Entertainment Board presented seven programs in the concert series and six performances of the arts theatre. Arthur Fiedler and the Buffalo Philharmonic Orchestra, Robert Goulet, and Peter Nero and the Swingle Singers, performed in concerts during the fall semester. "The Coach with the Six Insides," was also presented in the fall. The first presentation of the Entertainment Board for the second semester was "Absence of a Cello," starring Hans Conried. "I Solisti Veniti," was the performance of a magnificent string ensemble from Venice. The final concert in the series was the gifted and distinguished Robert Shaw Chorale with orchestra. Six plays were presented by the arts theatre. The Board also sponsors a summer series to offer continuous entertainment.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA Supports Charity

Lorry Jacobs as Bobby Bunny and Lyn Dwyer as Alice.

Alpha Phi Omega realizes its goal by providing service for the campus. The sole requirement for membership in APO is that the man must have been a Boy Scout. The men of APO combine their talents and efforts for the Annual APO Revue in the fall. This year the revue was entitled "Alice", a theme derived from Lewis Carroll's Alice in Wonderland and which depicts a naive freshman at ISU. This satirical comedy lampooned our campus and some of its prominent figures. Presented on November 12 and 13 the show featured Bobby Bunny who lived in Hovey Hole. Also presented were Sylvester the Cat, the typical ISU bookworm, and a bewildered Alice at registration. This revue had a twofold purpose: for a contribution to the Bloomington Crippled Children's Camp and for further education of a culturally deprived Indian child in Oklahoma.

It wouldn't be a circus without clowns.

"Midterm Midway" was the theme of the AWS Carnival held in McCormick Gymnasium March 26. This annual event was sponsored by the AWS with the cooperation of various organizations on campus. The decoration centerpiece was a gay ticket booth in which carnival participators could throw money. Among the many booths were a cake walk featuring cakes baked by wives of the faculty and a car smash sponsored by the University Club. Spot prizes were awarded at many of the booths to several lucky people. These prizes were donated by various Normal and Bloomington merchants. Entertainment throughout the evening was presented by Gamma Phi. The proceeds from the activities of the evening were donated to a charity decided upon by all club entrees. The Carnival is one of the most entertaining activities of the year, for all participants can join in the fun.

AWS CARNIVAL

Worthwhile Effort for Charity

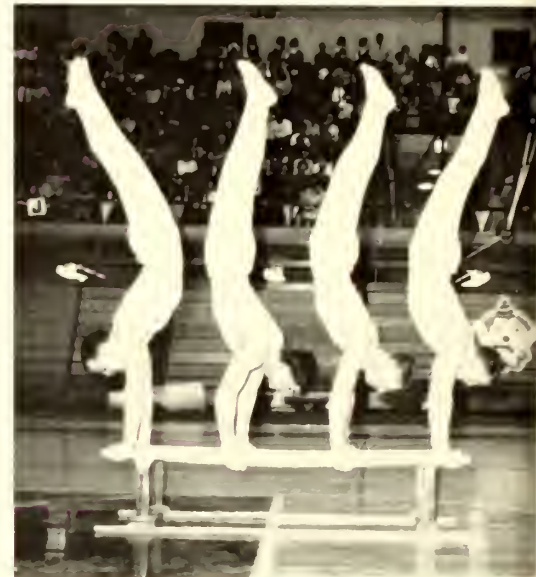

Students work on their booths for hours to try to win first prize awarded for originality and effectiveness.

On entering the Big Top of Horton Fieldhouse, one is confronted with revolving ladders, trampolines, and horizontal bars, all of which will soon show results of the practice. The atmosphere is truly one of a Big Top—surprised exclamations of children, colorful array of costumes, and the aroma of fresh popcorn. Feelings have mounted to anxious anticipation as ringmaster Steve Craig introduces the queen's court and her royalty, Barb White.

Watching the acts on equipment especially designed for the structure of Horton Fieldhouse, one gets an idea of the practice required for the circus. Weekly practices are held beginning in September with circus tryouts conducted in the spring. During practices the troupe experiences skinned shins and rope burns, but the applause, laughter, and delight exhibited by the audience makes the evening under the Big Top worthwhile.

Precision and practice make anything possible.

STUNT SHOW

Walker-Fell Wins Again

Dunn-Barton-Wilkins' "Monument or Bust" took second.

"Egyptian Connption" brought delight to the audiences of the forty-sixth annual Stunt Show and to the residents of Walker-Fell when they won the first place trophy. Walker-Fell's stunt depicted President Bone as the solver of Egypt's greatest problem. The Egyptians, who worshipped the pigeon, suddenly found themselves in a dilemma; the pigeons were no longer in existence in Egypt. Amidst the following confusion, President Bone cooled the connption by offering as a gift to the Pharaoh some of the many pigeons which inhabit the domes of ISU. The stunt was highlighted by black lights and clever costuming in a dance of the mummies. Second place was won by Dunn-Barton-Wilkins for their presentation of "Monument or Bust." Participation awards were presented to Atkin-Colby and Hamilton-Whitten for "The Plastered President" and "How Normal Got Dry" respectively. The continuity acts of the show featured the Co-op Council's Mothers' Day Beauty Contest, and an exciting magician exhibition by Ed Bullock, who held the audience's attention through his presentation of Houdini's great escape from a strait jacket. The faculty's dramatic presentation of Little Orphan Annie's rescue from Rex Morgan, M.D., by Dick Tracy, alias President Bone, left the audience laughing with delight. The annual Stunt Show was emceed by Gary Wilson with Mike Markley and Ken Johnson as co-chairmen.

"The Plastered President" was found by hired agent, female 008, when Atkin-Colby joined the search.

This year Hamilton-Whitten explained the wondered about phenomemo of "How Normal Got Dry.

VARUNAS

Aquatic Art

To offer to men and women students the opportunity for creative aquatic study, composition, and performance is the first purpose of the Varunas. Another is to stimulate interest in artistic and creative swimming. The third purpose of the organization is to foster high standards of performance, appreciation, and the understanding of swimming as an art form. To fulfill these purposes, the club presents an annual swim show. This year's performance was given the latter part of March. The underlying theme throughout the entire show was the perspective analysis of life. The beginning act portrayed the birth of an individual. Other acts depicted childhood, adolescence, and adulthood with the emotions of joy, sorrow, love, and fear, with the final act depicting death.

Members of Vorunas use skill, timing, coordination and creativity to make this performance perfect and possible.

ORCHESIS

Creative Modern Dancing

Orchesis, the modern dance club on campus, consists of two distinct groups—Junior and Senior Orchesis. The members of Junior Orchesis consist of any students on campus interested in modern dance. In order to qualify for Senior Orchesis, one is chosen on the basis of his performance in special try-outs. On December 8, 9, and 11, Senior Orchesis traveled on tour to El Paso and Streater. They also gave a technique lesson and demonstration in Palatine with the tour.

GRADUATION

Prepared for the World

All through college one looks forward to graduation with anticipation. Here all the work, all the fun, all the worry is culminated in one second. In Horton Fieldhouse are the proud parents looking for their John or Mary in June's and August's graduation ceremonies. After much preparation for the day—measurements for caps and gowns, announcements ordered and sent—it finally arrives. The speakers gave inspiring talks about what a promising class it was and how much it was prepared for the world's life. With a contract signed and commitments made, one was ready and prepared for any situation that might arise. All was intact and everyone was ready. As they marched for BA's and MA's, they were proud. It was a unique feeling—it even swept through the parents and they watched the hues of colored robes and tassels walk by. Slowly the different fields are touched as names are called and given a diploma. That is the twinkling moment when all is begun. This was the goal of many but few achieved it.

Proud parents and friends await the moment when their student receives his degree.

Everyone awaits the day when he receives his degree which represents not the end but the beginning.

CHEERLEADERS

ISU Support

Working closely with the Coryphees and the Redbird Rooters, the cheerleaders have strived to create and maintain school spirit by such activities as bi-weekly practice, pep rallies, and cheering at the games. The varsity cheerleaders included Sandy Marquiss, Shirley Stumm, Jalaine Riechers, Gay Coates, Carole Delaney, Joann Adams, and Barb White. The freshman squad added their support for the team; the first semester squad included Dorothy Saine, Donna Satterthwaite, Carolyn Laing, Jane Love, Kathy Mulligan, and during the second semester Joan Love and Marilyn Murray replaced Jane Love and Kathy Mulligan. To promote spirit within the student body for the homecoming game, the cheerleaders performed a clever skit using popular songs as a basis. Whether the team won or lost, the cheerleaders supported them and encouraged and inspired the spectators to cheer for their team.

REDBIRD ROOTERS

Redbird Rooters carried out its purpose of promoting interest in athletics and good sportsmanship among the student body as well as building all-around school spirit. The Redbird block, the real core of the cheering section was entirely student directed. This year the club's membership was increased to 950. Among the services provided by Redbird Rooters were bus trips to away games, Redbird block postcards, and desk blotters free to all students. Pep rallies, Bone's Victory Bell, and the march on Wesleyan were also coordinated through Redbird Rooters. The Quarterback Club, new to ISU this year, was organized through Redbird Rooters.

WRA

Among the activities sponsored by WRA were Gym-jams and social hours. The organization also sponsored a square dance club, Shufflin' Shoes. Other WRA activities included a ski trip, a spring camping trip, coed swimming, women's recreational swimming, and Varunas, a girls swimming club.

I CLUB

At their fall visitation day members of I Club hosted over a hundred high school athletes and gave them information concerning athletics at ISU. To further school spirit, I Club members went to basketball games as a group. Athletic awards were presented at the annual dinner-dance.

INTRAMURALS

Opportunities to Participate

That ball has to be here someplace.

Intramurals provide the men and women of Illinois State with recreational and tournament programs set up to give every student an opportunity to participate in sports activities. ISU's intramural program, under the direction of Dr. Eugene Hill, gives the students a program of twelve different sports activities ranging from team to individual play. The wide number of sports which consist of flag football, basketball, volleyball, wrestling, swimming, water polo, tennis, golf, track, badminton, bowling, and softball provide a program that satisfies the interests of the student body. This can be shown in that more than 60 per cent of the total men's enrollment took part in Illinois State's intramural program.

On the tournament level teams play in one of three divisions, dorm, off campus, and independent. Each team plays for its division's championship and from there goes on to play the champions in the other two divisions for the overall title.

The recreational programs in golf, co-educational volleyball and swimming provide a less competitive and a more leisurely program for men and women. Dr. Hill's intramural program supplements the scholastic requirements to provide for the development of well rounded individuals at ISU.

Chippewas close in on Kinnikin.

Illinois State University's football team, for the first time in the history of the school, compiled a perfect record. The problem was that this perfect record was no wins and nine losses, not nine wins and no losses.

Larry Bitcon, in his first year as head football coach at ISU, lost more games than in his previous seven years of coaching football. Bitcon came to us from the University of Arkansas, where he worked with the freshmen in his two years there.

Nine thousand fans were out for the opening game to see the Birdies fall to Millikin 14 to 13 after having a 13 to 0 lead at the end of the first half. The fact that five men were playing both defense and offense in that game exemplifies the lack of depth which plagued our team all season. A team of juniors and unseasoned sophomores troubled us in a schedule that battled us against our weaker opponents before we gained experience, and then against stronger foes when our experience was not enough.

Quarterbacks showed us some of the brighter spots of our season. Sophomore Jerry Kinnikin became the first ISU passer to top the 1,000 yard mark since 1952 when the school all-time record of 1375 yards was set. Jerry connected with 101 completions of 223 attempts for a total of 1273 yards. Number two quarterback Mike Phillips, a spirited 150 pounder, provided fans with something to talk about and showed good accuracy while completing 27 of 52 passes.

Post season honors for ISU team members were the election of Ken Franzen as the Most Valuable Player and Frank Dutton to the IIAC conference first team.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

Small But Hopeful

That little extra poy off.

The Illinois State freshman football team posted a 2 to 2 record for the 1965 season. Coach Milt Weisbecker had only one player over 200 pounds. ISU's defense, the team's strong point, was shown by holding their larger and heavier opponents, with the exception of Northern, to fewer total points.

The freshman footballers opened their season by defeating Eastern Illinois University 29 to 18. The second half of the game against Western was the highlight of the season. The young Leathernecks were winning 12 to 0 when quarterback Harold Olson connected with halfback Jerry Sytar for two touchdown pass plays of 38 and 88 yards respectively. Bud Geyer came in to kick the extra point and the previously undefeated and unscored upon Leathernecks were defeated 13 to 12. A heartbreaker came at the hands of Joliet Junior College on an ill-thrown pass of Harold Olson which was intercepted and run back for 55 yards and the only score of the game. The last game of the season pitted ISU against Northern in a game in which we spotted them a weight advantage of 49 pounds per man. Our boys fell to a 32 to 0 defeat. According to Weisbecker, Northern had the best all-around freshman team that he had seen since beginning coaching at ISU. They outscored their opponents 156 to 0.

Coach Weisbecker has a surplus of good backs this year but was short in depth in the line. Many different ball-players were used in order to see what players could help the varsity the most next season and no doubt many are being counted on by Coach Bitcon.

CROSS COUNTRY

Rebuilding Program For Coach Weller

ISU's Rick Morris in the lead.

Team relaxes after conference with the Coach.

Gene Jones, Fred Peterson, Walt Dare, Lee Johnson, Captain Mike Askew, Coach Roger Weller.

Roger Weller is the successor to 38 year veteran Joe Cogdal as head cross-country and track coach at ISU. Weller, a former hurdler from Illinois State, coached at University High School, Deland-Weldon and St. Charles. In six years of coaching on the high school level his teams have won five championships.

Coach Weller is faced with a major rebuilding task at ISU. In cross-country Weller had only two returning letter winners, and none of the Freshmen numeral winners were present for duty this fall.

The lack of enthusiasm and school spirit toward cross-country was shown by having only five members on our varsity squad, which usually consists of nine or ten members. The team running at half strength in a very tough cross-country conference, considered by Coach Weller to be as strong as the Big Ten's cross-country program, was a big factor that contributed to a season record of one win and five losses. Our near-by rival from Peoria, Bradley University, presented ISU with its only victory of the season.

In the IIAC conference meet, Illinois State placed a dismal fifth. Junior Mike Askew, Blue Island (Eisenhower), was the first man to finish for ISU placing ninth. Senior Lee Johnson, Sterling, placed nineteenth and Fred Peterson, Rockford (Auburn), twenty-fourth.

After a poor showing this season, the outlook for the future looks much brighter. Junior Mike Askew, who constantly placed high in each meet, will be back next year. Phil Kamer, a transfer student from Eastern Kentucky State who was ineligible this season because of the transfer rule, should help strengthen the team.

The brightest prospect for the next few years is Freshman Bruce Hanson from Ela-Vernon (Lake Zurich). Hanson took a first in every freshman meet this season, and according to Coach Weller, Hanson has an even greater future ahead of him. Weller also plans to use Hanson in his track rebuilding program from the two mile distances this spring.

With the return of three out of the five regular varsity runners plus Kamer and Hanson, next fall's season should show much improvement.

SWIMMING

Strong Second in IIAC

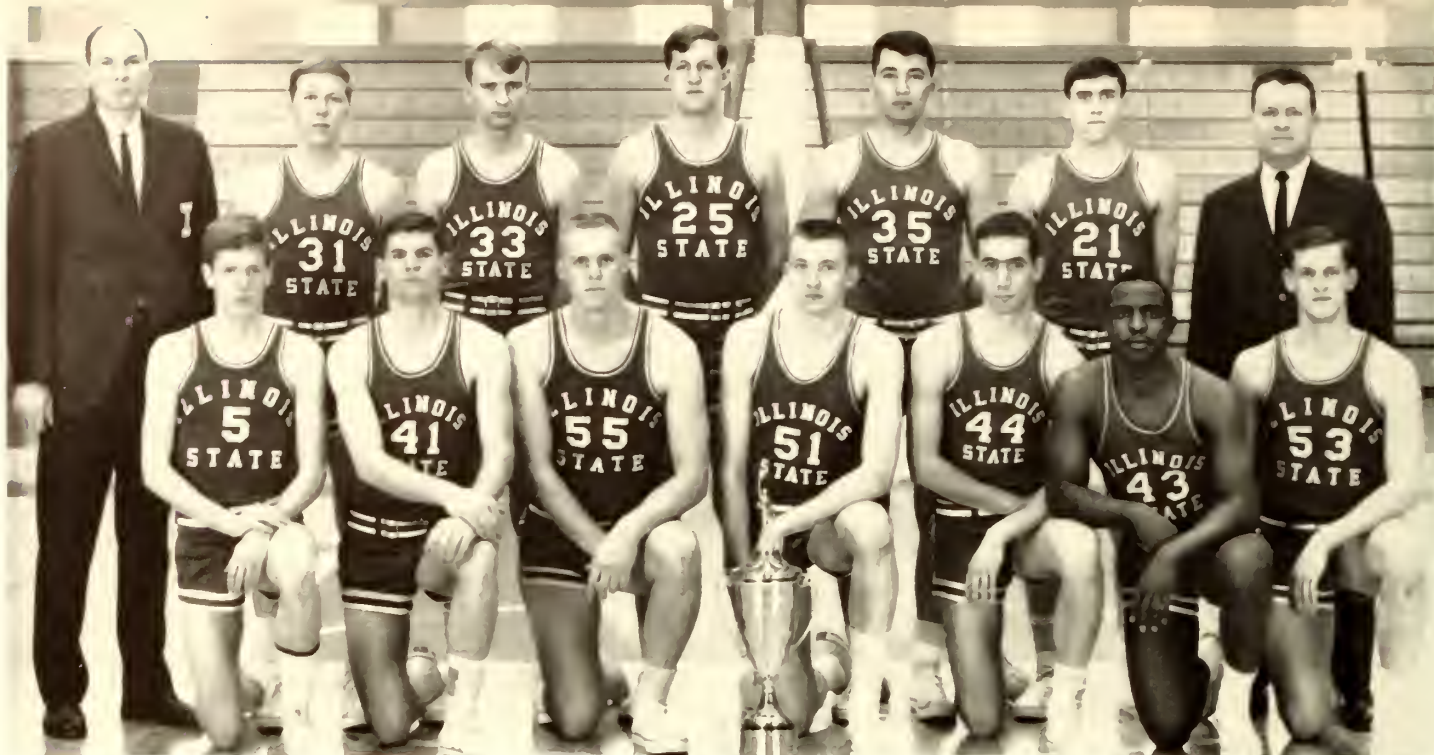

Left: Dick Kirgan "Most Valuable Swimmer" of the IIAC for the past two years. Below: The grace of a bird is displayed in Van Miller's diving.

The tankers rolled into second place in the IIAC Meet with what Coach Archie Harris called a "fair" season. This veteran squad which included eight returning lettermen posted a 2-5 dual meet record, but did well in their four triangular battles by copping two firsts, one second, and a third. Three of the returning lettermen, Co-captains Dick Kirgan, Terry Shoup, and butterfly specialist Dick Barsema were awarded varsity letters in all four of their years here at Illinois State University.

Top honors must go to senior Dick Kirgan who was named "Most Valuable Swimmer" of the Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference Meet for the second consecutive year. This is the third year of record breaking performances for this ISU boy. As a sophomore Kirgan finished the year by setting a new record in the 200 yard freestyle. Last season the conference time for the 100 yard freestyle fell when Mr. Kirgan swam it in 49.8 seconds. This year in his last time at the conference meet, Dick Kirgan won both the 200 yard and 400 yard individual medleys. The 400 yard victory will go into the record book with the time of 4:48.4. For the first time in the history of the school the swimming team elected a "Most Valuable Swimmer". Bestowing this honor upon Dick Kirgan fittingly enough ended his career.

But a number of individuals stood out for their consistently fine performances over the season. Among these were Van Miller, second in the conference diving; Terry Shoup, a fine breaststroker; Jim Solow, freestyle sprinter; and Terry Smith, second in conference backstroke.

BASKETBALL Youthful and Hopeful

It was a year of the sophomore at Illinois State University. Two sophomores led the Redbird's scoring, while another topped the 1965-66 statistics in rebounding and free throw shooting.

Coach James Collie's men, in a rebuilding year with a roster of sophomores and juniors, won 12 and lost 14 for the season. The Birdies had a very slow start for they only managed to salvage one victory in their first seven attempts. Over Christmas vacation a highlight of the season was winning the Emporia Holiday Tournament at Emporia, Kansas. The unranked ISU squad upset the form chart the first night with a 93-74 win over first-seeded St. Benedicts and squeezed by the number two seeded Fort Hays State squad with a 84-82 win on a key basket by 6'7" center Duane Bruninga. Sophomore guard George Terry pumped in a 20 foot jump shot with five seconds remaining to end the rampage with a 78-77 title win over Pittsburgh State. Capturing a tie with Western Illinois University, twice defeated by ISU, for second place in the IIAC provided another highlight for the season.

For the first time in several years the Redbird five played interesting and colorful basketball. George Terry's lost second shots, Steve Arend's vicious rebounding, and the playmaking of Jerry McGreal brought capacity crowds to Horton Fieldhouse and much enthusiasm to the student body.

George Terry, Alton sophomore, led the team in the per-game scoring department with 16.7 although he missed two games because of an ankle injury. He totaled 401 points. Jerry, a quick-handed Rantoul lad, was a near-unanimous choice by his teammates as the "Most Valuable Player" of the basketball season here at ISU. Sophomore forward Steve Arends headed the list in the rebound category with a total of 238 and his .746 percentage from the charity stripe won for him the Hall Free Throw Trophy.

Even with the entire varsity team returning the crop of freshmen should give this year's starting five plenty of competition. Coach Jim Collie seems to have a crowd-pleasing and winning team for next season.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

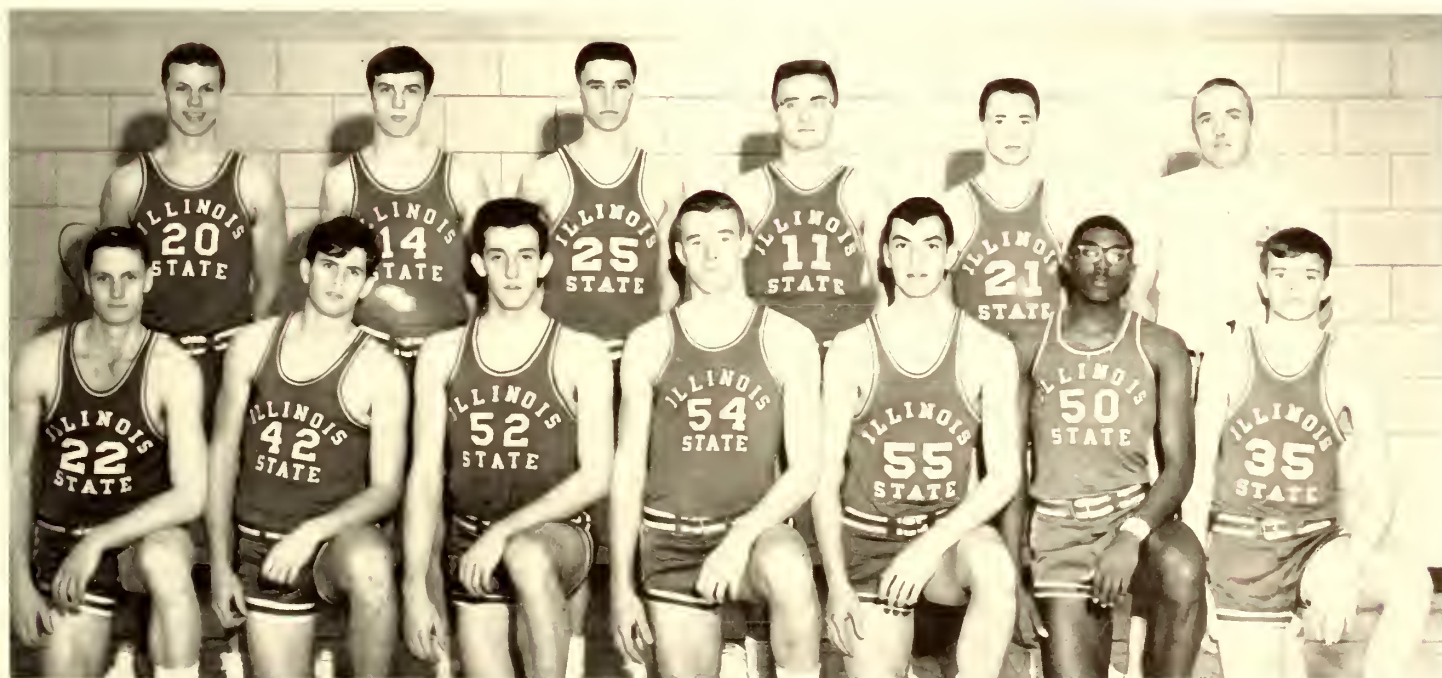

ISU freshmen basketball team split their season with a four and four won-loss record. All their victories were at home while all losses occurred on the road. Good group effort was shown in that no single player dominated the team play. According to Coach Wasen at least seven freshmen candidates have a good chance of making the varsity next season.

The team's leaders were Tom Taulbee, 6'5" center, who led in total scoring with 101 points for an average of 14.6 points per game. Playmaker Mike Green was voted by his team members as their most valuable player. Basketball is usually considered a tall man's sport, but the game has its uses for small, scrappy, alert players. The freshmen team had one in Kerry Hough, 5'8" guard, from East Richland of Olney. Hough led the team in assists and recoveries while playing only half the time.

The final game of the season was against the highly noted Bradley Braves. At the end of the first half ISU was down by one point, but in the second half Bradley's undefeated freshmen team went on to win over a high-spirited Redbird five.

The gymnastics team coached by Alan Weith was a group of dedicated, hard-working athletes. The big reason for the poor record of two victories and five losses was the result of inexperience. Most of the squad were sophomores. Coach Weith said they did surprisingly well in spite of the record. He felt the whole team had improved 100 per cent by the end of the season.

In the conference meet held here at Horton Fieldhouse, Illinois State placed fourth. Placing high for ISU were senior Tod Fassbender, who took a first in the horizontal bar, and junior Larry Conant, who took a second in the long horse. Both boys represented Illinois State in the National NCAA gymnastics meet.

The freshmen team gained one victory and came up on the short end in two other close contests. Jerry Jones proved most impressive this season, scoring very high on the wings and parallel bars at all three meets and should prove helpful to the varsity next season.

Next season Illinois State's gymnastics team will be coached again by Wayne Truex who returns as head coach after a year's sabbatical leave. He will take over an experienced squad that should begin to move from their fourth place standing in the IAC which they were forced into this season.

Outstanding! That is the only word to describe this year's wrestling team. Not only did they capture the IIAC conference crown for the third straight year, but they ended a fantastic season with a 7-2 record, remaining undefeated in the conference for the second year. Individual honors for the tournament went to Mike Manahan at the 130 pound weight class who defeated his Central Michigan opponent in the finals by a score of 5-2, Curt Sexton at 167 who won a decision over Northern by a 9-0 score, and Willie Williams who defeated Eastern 7-2 at the 191 pound weight class. The entire team, however, put forth an exceptional overall effort, with each man doing his best in order to bring back the trophy.

Captain for the grapplers was Mike Manahan, senior from Bloomington. Other seniors on the team were last year's Ron Bessemer, Gary Giardini, Bill Rumchak and Jim Rumchak all of whom have shown some fine wrestling for Coach Koehler.

Voted most valuable varsity wrestler by the team was Captain Manahan. John Swanson was elected the most valuable freshman. Next year's captain will be Dave Eberhard, sophomore from Oswego.

The wrestlers were ranked 10th in the small college Nationals. This selection was made by the NAIA committee on the basis of their record for the season. The team will compete in the NCAA College division nationals and should place higher than they are ranked. The national tournaments are tough to win, but with wrestlers like Eberhard, Manahan, Sexton, and Williams, the Redbirds should be real close to the top of this year's outstanding small college teams.

Track in the 1965 season had a curious mixture of failures and successes. Depth in the cindermen's team was shown by a winless season. The season was highlighted by setting many new individual school records. Indoor records were set by Phil Johnson's running broad jump of 21 ft. 11 1/2 in. and his hop, skip, and jump of 39 ft. 5 in. Vaulting 14 ft. Richard Thomas set a new indoor track record, and when he moved outside, he vaulted 13 ft. 11 1/2 in. to establish a new outdoor record.

Stan Petty set a shot put record of 51 ft. 11 in. and a new low hurdle record of 39.1 was made by Tom Mayor. Wayne Coplea broke the old outdoor hop, skip, and jump record by a leap of 42 ft. 3 in. Freshman Arnold Giles bettered the running broad jump record by jumping 23 ft.

The 1965 track season marked the end of the coaching era of Joe Cogdal after being at ISU since 1927. At ISU Cogdal has at one time or another, coached football, basketball, cross-country, tennis and track. Joe Cogdal brought a winning spirit to ISU over the past 38 years with 25 I.I.A.C. titles and at nine different times has placed a team in the top ten nationally. His basketball and cross-country teams won consecutive I.I.A.C. titles from 1937 to 1944.

Joe Cogdal said goodbye to coaching April 25, 1965 at a dinner given in his honor by the school. Over two hundred former athletes that have worked under him in his many years at ISU attended.

Inconsistency Typifies '65 Season

There she goes thought Bill Robinson.

The ISU diamondmen's combination of hitting and pitching is what is giving our head coach "Duffy" Bass gray hairs. Combining hitting and pitching is also what gave us a record of 11 wins and 16 losses. As a team the Redbirds hit .236 and the four starter hurlers posted a 3.10 Earned-Run-Average.

For the second year in a row converted pitchers have led the Birdies at the plate. Al Gurski, who was switched to the outfield early in the season, led the team with a .306 batting average while Phil Dinelli, who was also converted to the outfield last season, led in home runs (four) and received the Runs-Batted-In award by collecting fourteen. Second in hitting to Gurski was Jerry Ross, senior shortstop and co-captain, with a .281 batting average. Ross with the 1964 winner of the Runs-Batted-In award and was only one run behind Dinelli in this department this season.

Leading the pitching corps in Earned-Runs-Average was southpaw Henry "Irish" O'Reilly with a 2.56 mark. The strike-out pitch was an effective weapon of the strong hurler, getting 49 strike-outs in 49 1/3 innings. Because of the lack of correlation of pitching and hitting, his record for the season was an unimpressive 1 win and 5 losses. Senior Larry Brandt did a fine job for Coach Bass following closely behind O'Reilly in Earned-Run-Average and led in the all-important won-lost record with a 4-3 count for the season.

Some of the heartaches of the season can be seen by the 2-1 defeat at the hands of our arch-rival Northern Illinois. O'Reilly was pitching a fine game until the seventh inning when Northern collected two runs on five straight infield hits. However it was not a season of all heartaches, for ISU fought back to tie the score against Bradley at 5-5. Ross came to the plate in the last half of the ninth inning with two men on base. The count was two and two when he connected for a home run and a victory for ISU.

With only three men being lost through graduation, we are hoping that the future will be as bright as the way our men ended this season: ISU 7—Notre Dame 3.

TENNIS

Netmen Show Championship Form as Runner-up

The return of Jim Whitmon proves to be the margin of victory for ISU.

The defending champion of the IIAC, Illinois State University hoped to please Coach Eugene Hill with another title. In the first match against the University of Illinois, we were defeated 0-9, but then on our spring trip we retaliated and took second at the Northeast Missouri Tournament. This was a hint of the unpredictableness of the '65 season. Going into the conference meet with an unimpressive 3 wins and 9 losses record, the picture for our boys seemed to be pretty gloomy. Also in the two weeks prior, Northern Illinois and Eastern Illinois had defeated us 1-8 and 2-7 respectively. ISU received the advantage of having the IIAC matches at home. Illinois State fought hard but fell short to a strong Eastern squad by a score of 15-20.

Senior Captain Bill Powell had a fine season, for he captured the singles championship at the number two spot and teamed up with sophomore Jim Whitman for the number one doubles championship.

Powell was also honored by his teammates with the Most Valuable Player award.

Jim Whitman has become a stout heart of the Cardinals by winning the singles number two spot in '64 and the top position in singles and doubles this season. Whitman and Powell were not the only winners, for Roger Ninness, champion in the number five slot in '64, moved up to three and gained that title this year. Three other lettermen who gave support were Milt Neuman, Lee Johnson, and Dave Ault.

Coach Hill will be shooting for his ninth title out of sixteen tries in '66, and with Powell being the only letterman not returning, ISU should be the team to beat.

GOLF

Experienced Linksmen Capture Second in I.I.A.C.

The entire 1965 team returned with the experience and confidence that pleased Coach Milt Weisbecker with a season record of 19 wins and only 7 setbacks. Sparking the fire that burnt under the boys was the victory over the University of Illinois early in the season.

During the season Coach Weisbecker's golfers won all five of their conference matches. Both Northern Illinois and Eastern Illinois Universities were twice soundly defeated by our talented Redbirds. Illinois State moved on to defeat Central Michigan for the fifth conference victory. The linksmen climaxed the season by becoming runner-up to a strong Western Illinois University team in the IIAC conference meet at Silver Lakes Country Club in Orland Park, Illinois. Captain Ed Fey, Junior Jerry Diamond, and Mike Orrison posted shooting averages within a stroke apart. Supporting this trio were Richie Green, Larry Quane, and Rich Rapp.

Taking a second in the conference meet made the Redbirds eligible to enter the NCAA meet at Southwestern Missouri State College, Missouri. In the tournament, consisting of large and small schools, Illinois State placed sixth. Orrison and Diamond picked up the eighth and tenth positions in the individual standings.

Prospects for the future look good with the return of all but Senior Captain Ed Fey. The addition of a good freshman group, which posted a 6 win and 2 loss record, to an experienced varsity should bring another good golf season to Illinois State in 1966. The team to beat in 1966 will be the conference champs, Western Illinois, who will have their whole team back.

Senior Captain Ed Fey shows championship form.

PRESIDENT BONE

A complete revision of purpose took place in this institution during the past year when the decision was made to make Illinois State a liberal arts university. No one has felt this change of purpose more acutely than the head of this university, President Bone. With the creation of three or more new colleges in the fall of 1966, new deans have had to be hired, and because of the introduction of these new colleges, significant departmental expansion has also been necessary. This major change, along with the additional number of students it will bring, will put Illinois State in a completely new light in the coming years.

The president revises departments into colleges after the change to a multi-purpose university.

ADMINISTRATIVE COUNCIL

Interpretation of Policy

The administration which is the executive branch of our University serves as the backbone of campus activity. The Administrative Council, which is directly responsible to the President and in turn to the Teacher's College Board, does not establish policy, but merely interprets it. Members of the Administrative Council are: Acting Dean Claude Dillinger, Dr. Eric Johnson, Dean Richard Hulet, Dr. Harald Gibson, Dr. James Fisher, Dean Francis Belshe, Dean Arlan Helgeson, Dr. Gertrude Hall, Dean Anna Keaton, Dean

Jahn Gillis, and Mr. Preston Ensign.

The Administrative Council doesn't represent the complete administrative organization. The assistant deans, under the Dean of Women and Dean of Men, extend valuable counseling to students. There are also offices of the Director of University Union, Director of Health Services, Director of University Housing, Director of Student Financial Aids, Coordinator of Foreign Student Services, and Coordinator of Student Activities which provide further services for university students.

Extend Valuable Counseling

The mail room handles distribution of campus mail to all campus organizations, students, and faculty as one of the services provided for everyone at ISU.

Nelson Smith heads the university's photography services.

UNIVERSITY SERVICES

University services provide services and facilities for all students and staff members of ISU. The photographic service, whose service is open to anyone for a charge, is responsible for all the official photo work for the university. This service will also make slide copies and duplicate and frame pictures. The mail service provides mailing facilities within the campus and has in excess of one hundred mail stops. All recognized student organizations receive their mail from the campus mail service at boxes in the Union. This year the mail service compiled and published the mail regulations and policies on campus. Almost all mailing services available at a government post office are provided at the campus mail service in Edwards Hall Annex.

FOREIGN STUDENT SERVICE

Students from Paraguay, Poland, Thailand, and many places between have joined together in the newly organized International Student Club. The original plan of Pho Tuyet Lan of Viet Nam, the club works to encourage cultural exchange between many lands and helps orient new foreign students coming to ISU. In carrying out its purpose the club featured speakers on different lands; President Bone showed slides of Egypt and at the November meeting a Bloomington high school student spoke on his travels through the British Isles and Europe. The club's membership is open to both foreign and American students who wish to work for a deeper and fuller understanding of the world. The group's cultural interaction was evident when they sponsored a record dance and entered a float which placed fourth in our Homecoming parade.

Lela Winegarner, Coordinator of Foreign Student Service, helps many students adjust to ISU.

Dr. Helen M. Nance
Head of Division of Elementary Education

One of the innovations of the Division of Elementary Education is the complex of offices in Moulton Hall. Besides the offices there is a reception room, conference rooms, and rooms for small group meetings. The increased number of advisers meant an improvement in academic advising for students. Committees worked to strengthen the master's program. Preparations are being made for a teacher education program for the culturally deprived. There is an increasing number of students participating in the Junior Year Abroad program and in the honors program, and developing resource areas.

A student teacher finds that she needs much patience and understanding when teaching children.

ELEMENTARY EDUCATION

More Academic Advising

Dr. Nance helps students majoring in elementary education plan their program for the remainder of their undergraduate study.

SPECIAL EDUCATION

Education to All Children

Dr. Harold R. Phelps
Head of Division of Special Education

The Division of Special Education has strengthened its program for preparing teachers of trainable and emotionally disturbed children. Grants from the federal government have attracted full-time graduate students to the Division. Funds from these grants have made it possible to bring outstanding consultants to the campus, increase the number of journals and textbooks in Milner Library, and establish a curriculum resource room in Fairchild Hall. The Division is playing an increasingly important role in preparing teachers for educational programs in the Departments of Mental Health and Children and Family Services.

Most children are eager to learn but need people to teach them and help them learn.

A teacher helps some trainable and emotionally disturbed children to identify objects.

Dr. Horvey S. Woods
Head of Department of Agriculture

In addition to the regular technical work, an agriculture graduate in teacher preparation must have the ability to initiate, organize, and promote. These various necessary skills in general agriculture and teacher preparation are being developed more fully with the introduction of the liberal arts program. With mankind's existence dependent upon agriculture, it is necessary that preparation in this field be of the highest quality. Laboratory work is required on the university farm, and classrooms and a special agriculture laboratory are located on campus.

ART

New Appreciation Course

Dr. F. Louis Hoover
Head of Department of Art

The Art Department has experienced a major change this past year in its structural organization, which now includes various faculty advisers for the students. A new fine arts appreciation course, which will span the combined areas of art, music, and speech, has been approved and will be offered for the first time in the fall of 1966. As the university becomes a multi-purpose institution, an increasing emphasis will be placed on personal production and students will be encouraged to specialize in a particular area of art to go along with the existing teacher education program.

An art major learns the skill of sculpturing.

BIOLOGICAL SCIENCES

New Course and Laboratory

Dr. R. Omar Rilett
Head of Department of Biological Sciences

The Department of Biological Sciences is utilizing the new facilities of the Science annex in its expanding program. The electron microscope is used to study echinoderm blood cells, algal cells, and viruses at magnifications of 150,000 diameters. A television set-up with monitors in lecture halls and laboratories is being completed. This set-up will make possible many instructional innovations such as televising behavioral studies of living animals, growth sequences in plants, and microscopic preparations of plant and animal tissues for the observation of individual cells.

Dr. Rilett inspects and comments on some of the plants in the biology department's greenhouse.

BUSINESS EDUCATION

Shorter Shorthand Program

A student must learn how to take shorthand. But then she must learn how to transcribe it and type it into a business letter.

Dr. Lewis R. Toll
Head of Department of Business Education

The shorthand program of the Business Education Department has been shortened this year from four to three semesters due to the effectiveness of the electronic laboratory which enables students to do nearly all homework from dictation given by continuous-play tape recorders. The business education fields of increasing popularity are business data processing, including analysis for computer programming, and preparation for teaching those vocational courses in office education and distributive education which are reimbursed under the Vocational Education Act of 1963.

EDUCATION AND PSYCHOLOGY

New Child Growth Center

Dr. Frank N. Philpat
Head of Department of Education and Psychology

The responsibility for the professional sequence lies in the Department of Education and Psychology. In this department are taught the psychological background and bases for the training of teachers as well as the introductory courses, general methods, foundations, and elective courses in education and psychology. A new facility added this year to help provide prospective teachers with an understanding of children is the Child Growth Center. The picture below of an Illinois State student and two small children was taken in this center.

A future teacher tries to understand children.

Dr. Victor E. Gimmestad
Head of Department of English

ENGLISH Expanded Program

Every department needs someone to help file.

Since the honor sections, which were introduced last year, proved so successful, the English department has expanded their program to include Masterpieces of English Literature and Masterpieces of American Literature this semester. Previously exemption with credit from English 101 and 102 has been offered to students, but for the first time this year exemption without credit has also been made a possibility. This year has also witnessed the introduction of a Director of Freshman English.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES

Direct Communication

Dr. Thomas E. Comfort
Head of Department of Foreign Languages

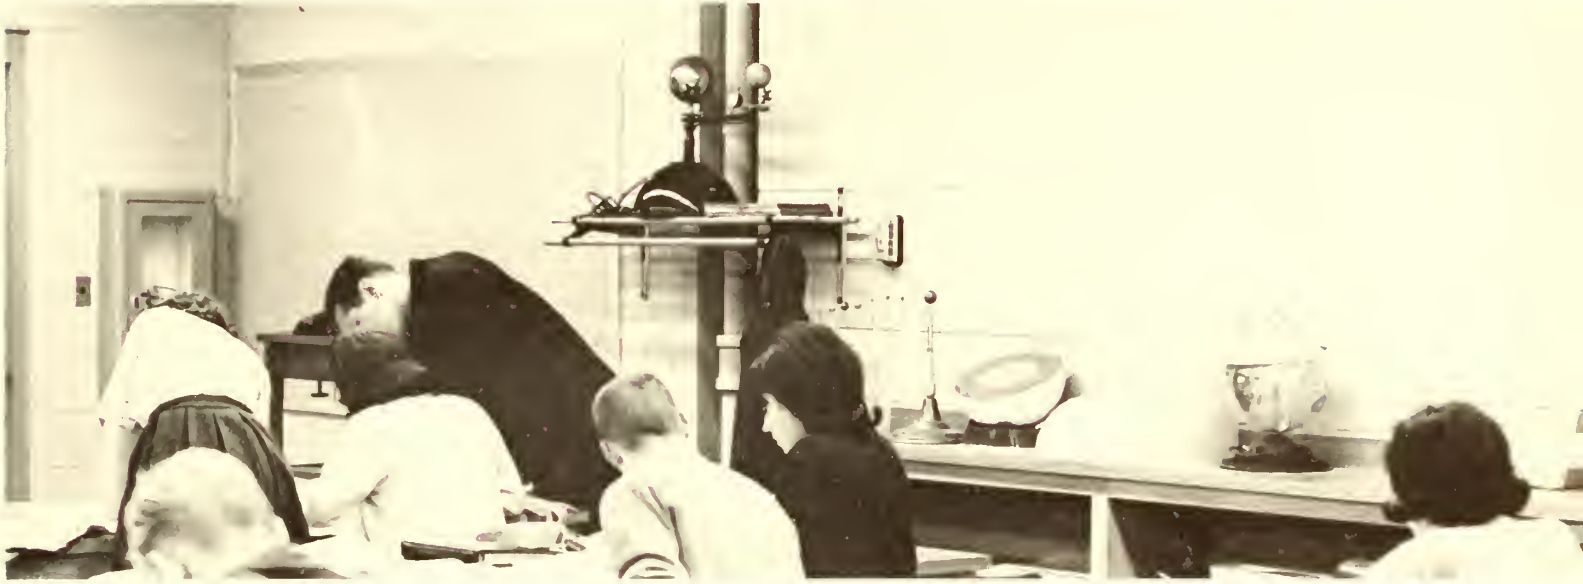

The Department of Foreign Languages of ISU continues to increase and modernize its program to provide more effective training for future teachers of foreign languages. With the involvement in world affairs and direct communication with other countries, the study of foreign languages is being increasingly emphasized. This emphasis is seen in the use of the language laboratory, junior-year-abroad, club activities, and increased graduate school enrollment. Thus the department, well-prepared with program, staff, and equipment, fulfills the desires of the young American who wants to learn a foreign language.

The laboratory provides an opportunity for students to hear a native speaker in their language.

GEOGRAPHY

Study of Our Environment

Dr. Arthur W. Watterson
Head of Department of Geography

Without its growth and development now curtailed by lack of space, the Geography Department has expanded in both facilities and curriculum. The completed Schroeder annex provides laboratories for geology and earth science and relieves previously crowded quarters where now a new seminar room and cartographic laboratory are located. The department also possesses a complete climatological gathering station. This year the graduate school in geography is experiencing a fantastic growth—an indication of the increased importance of a study of our natural environment.

New facilities open new earth science labs.

MEN'S HEALTH AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Expanded Intramurals

Volleyball is just one of many intramurals.

The Men's Department of Health and Physical Education is meeting new demands by expanding in many aspects. This year has seen a new course requirement for all majors by the addition of Tests and Measurement. With this course the men will receive a better background and better preparation for both graduate work and teaching. The intramural program has been expanded by an increase in participants. A total of fourteen sports from water polo to cross country are now offered. ISU was the host school for the NCAA small college swim meet for the second consecutive year and during March held the IAC conference gymnastics championships.

Dr. Burton L. O'Connor
Head of Department of Health and Physical Education for Men

WOMEN'S HEALTH AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Satisfactory Leisure Time

Apparatus class must work out the uneven parallels and the balance beam.

The fiber of our society will be influenced more by what we do with our leisure time than with what we do in our working hours. Some physically active and emotionally satisfying leisure interests and skills, and the energy to engage in them are important in the day-to-day life of the college students, and to the future of educated women today. This is the goal of the programs of the Department of Health and Physical Education for Women. The undergraduate program will be further strengthened by a new undergraduate dance education major. Also, thirty-seven different courses are now open to non-majors.

Dr. Ellen Davis Kelly
Head of Department of Health and Physical Education for Women

HOME ECONOMICS

Growth in Department

Growth has been a key word throughout the Home Economics Department this year. The department has witnessed an increase in students, staff members, and new graduate courses. There has also been an addition in the number of foreign students taking graduate courses and the number of applicants from Junior Colleges. Several new pieces of period clothing have been received by the department for a course in historic costumes. On March 22, the department sponsored a spring style show presented by the makers of McCall's patterns. The style show was open to the students and the public.

Dr. Florence Davis
Head of Department of Home Economics

In a home economics class, girls learn to be exact and perfect in everything from sewing on a button to putting in a sleeve.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

Increasing Curriculum

Safety is a very valuable tool to use when one is in contact with and using dangerous material.

Dr. Charles B. Parter
Head of Department of Industrial Arts

The curriculum of the Industrial Arts Department is increasing constantly, as are its facilities. Courses in computer technology are also being planned for the near future. Starting this summer, graduate courses with technical content will be introduced and the graduate workshop in computer drafting which was so popular last summer will be continued.

Probably the biggest new thing, however; in this department will be the introduction of a new non-teaching program next fall. This will make it possible for majors to receive a B.S. degree without having to fulfill teacher's certificate requirements.

LIBRARY SCIENCE

Undergraduate Major

Dr. Bryant H. Jackson
Acting Head of Department of Library Science

As the facilities of the Library Science department have increased, the department has planned for growth in the program. The headquarters for the department are now in the basement of the Milner annex and consist of four classrooms and faculty offices. In addition to offering a library science minor and a library science resource for elementary majors, the department will offer an undergraduate major in library science beginning September, 1966. Each year the department holds a school library institute. Each summer the department has a book selection clinic to help those in the field of library science.

Students in library science are being prepared to be qualified library assistants and administrators.

MATHEMATICS

New Comprehensive Major

A more mechanically-minded male comes to the aid of a female with adding machine problems.

Dr. Clyde T. McCormick
Head of Department of Mathematics

A revolution and not just an evolution is going on in the field of mathematics, which is one of the most rapidly expanding of all the sciences. This is partly reflected by the numerous changes in this department. Three new courses in computer science have recently been introduced: Principles of Digital Computers, Numerical Analysis, and Boolean Algebra and Logical Design. A comprehensive major of fifty-two semester hours has also been added which permits students to take courses in computer science and mathematical statistics as well as regular mathematics courses.

Eleven New Studios

The new private studios in Centennial give a place for individuals or groups to practice without interference or interruption.

The new addition to Centennial has aided the music department in its teacher preparation for music; this preparation is accomplished through acquiring knowledge of methods of teaching music and developing individual musicianship. The eleven studios for applied music have provided a place for private lessons and a studio for each faculty member teaching applied music. The lecture hall, serving also as a recital hall, has provided the opportunity for student recitals to be scheduled on a more regular basis. The program for the department continues to grow and develop to meet the needs of the school and the students.

Dr. Howard H. Rye
Head of Department of Music

A boy spends many hours working diligently on his experiment in the chemistry lab.

PHYSICAL SCIENCES

New System of Teaching

Dr. Bernard L. Ryder
Head of Department of Physical Sciences

The Physical Sciences Department added a planetarium to its facilities and has been offering a series of public lectures to the community. The department further extended its services by developing for non-majors a new course in instrumental analysis. A new system of teaching sources in chemistry uses large lecture sessions which are divided into smaller sections for laboratory work and recitation. A workshop of the Aerospace Institute was offered during the summer on the graduate level. The Institute was organized in cooperation with the Illinois wing of the Civil Air Patrol.

SOCIAL SCIENCE

Team teaching as Reward

Dr. Keeley meets with department professors.

The past year has seen several changes within the Social Science department. New equipment, such as tape recorders, have been added as an aid to both the instructor and the students. Several new courses were initiated during the second semester, including History of the Middle East, a graduate course in political science, and under Sociology, courses in both juvenile delinquency and social stratification. Team teaching, where each instructor taught that part of the course in which he excelled, was a rewarding project in that the instructors, by working together, could specialize.

Dr. Benjamin J. Keeley
Head of Department of Social Science.

SPEECH

Growth and Change

Dr. Charles A. White
Head of Department of Speech

Perhaps the two words, growth and change, best characterize our university of today and tomorrow. The Department of Speech, as a part of the university, is trying to keep pace with the ebb and flow of a pulsating institution. As always the challenge of the unknown presents both threats and opportunities. The objective of the speech department is to hold fast to that which has been good, discard what is no longer applicable, and plow new ground where fertility seems eminent.

STUDENT TEACHING

Ultimate Goal of Students of Education

The faces that the elementary student teacher faces are all very young, eager, and active.

After much running around and talking to fellow students who have student taught in various areas, the prospective student teacher has found a place to live. After the dorms and living off-campus in houses, this is yet one of the experiences the student teacher goes through.

This being accomplished, he must visit the school and get to know the supervising teacher and the school. The first day of student teaching brings anxiety. All the learning has to be directed to guiding this knowledge to the student. The various classes covering the student's major must now be put together in a meaningful way for the students of the class.

The schools are different, too. The school might be elementary, junior high, or high school. Elementary teachers have learned all the reading, writing, and arithmetic that is necessary. The faces are young, eager, and very active. Junior high is the in-between time for students, and the student teacher takes on another problem—this is the time of teen-age infatuation. High school is the time of inspiring the students to want to learn. Here the questions may be stumping and looking up answers may become another job.

Teaching involves understanding and patience as well as educating an individual.

A meeting with your critic teacher is very helpful in understanding your strengths and weaknesses.

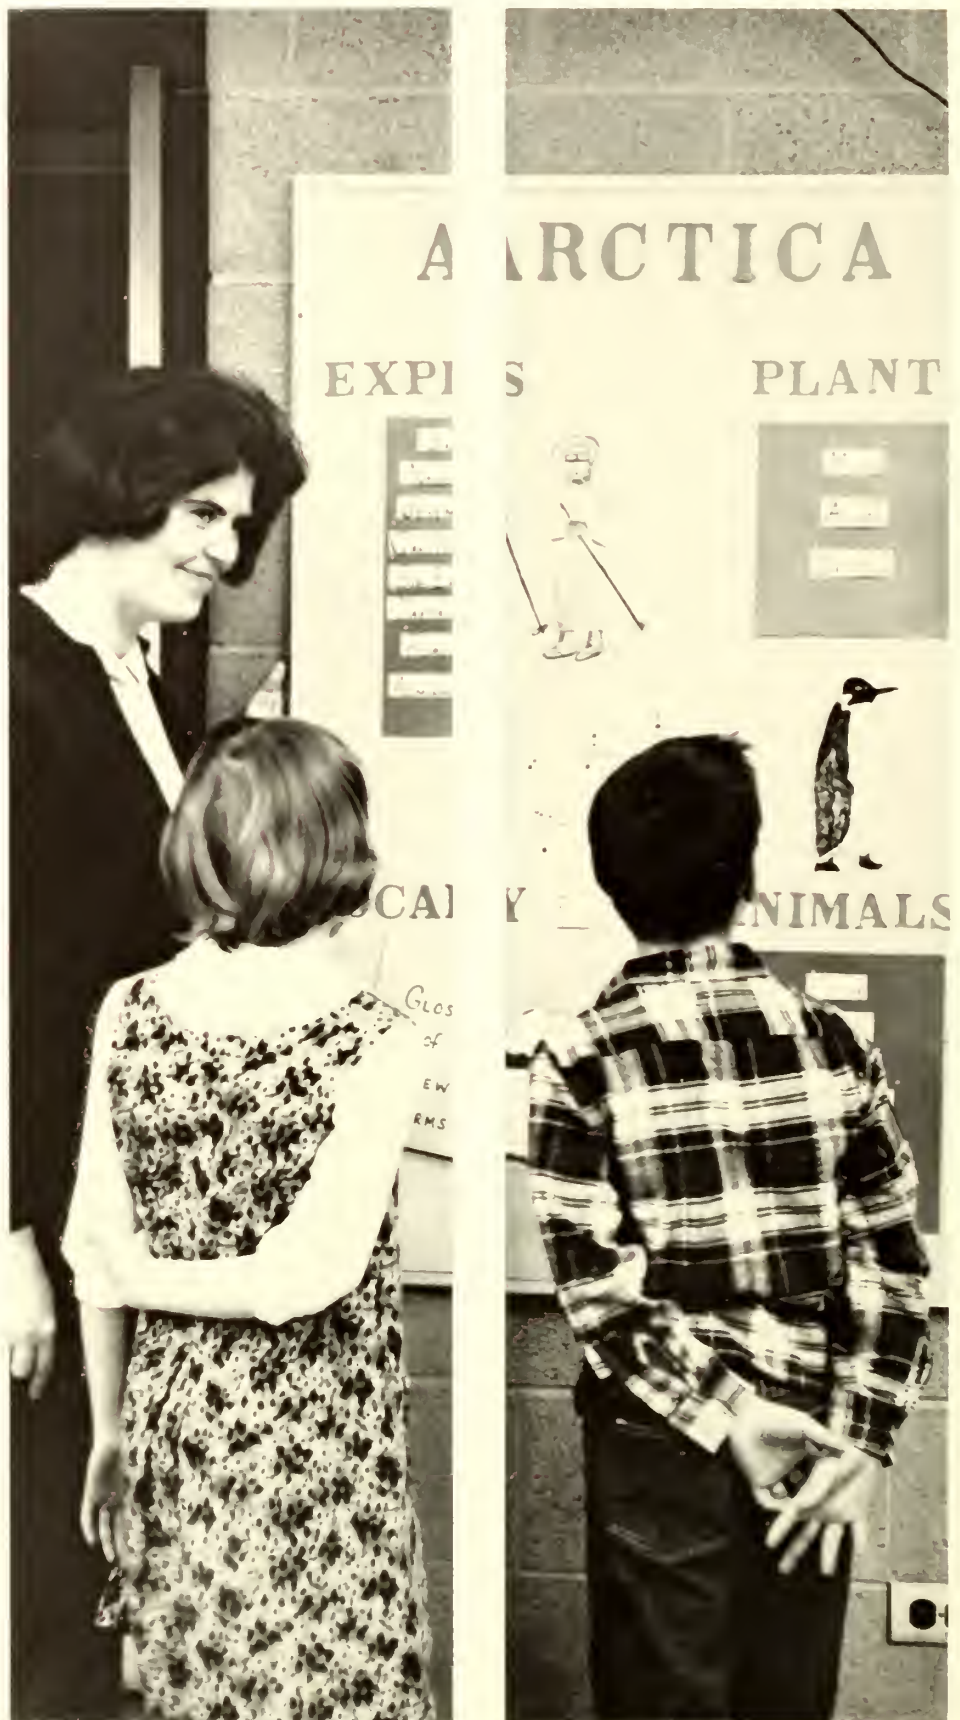

A colorful and interesting bulletin board helps introduce new material and units to the student.

No matter where the student teaching, it is a new and unique experience. The days are spent in the classroom working with the students. The lesson plan must be a meaningful intellectual experience that must cumulate in a useful end for the student. Independent thinking must be encouraged without sacrificing the whole class.

Tests must be fair and test the objectives set up for the unit. Encouraging students to ask questions about the unit is a task in itself. The organization of the material must make inquiry an end. One of the ways to do this is through bulletin boards that are colorful and interesting.

After school hours came the experiences of teachers' meetings, PTA, and the teacher institutes. This was probably the first time the initiate teacher met all the different kinds of parents. At the various teacher meetings he has new ideas to present and can see how he may be helpful in the future. Also after school the student extracurricular activities begin. Here may be the invaluable experience of being with his students in a casual atmosphere. From this experience, he can further his acquaintances with his students and make classes more interesting accordingly.

The student teacher has become more aware of what is expected of him. With all these happenings kept in mind, he can plan a better lesson plan. He had the sources of the college material studied, the critic teacher's helpful remarks, and his own thoughts on his experiences. With all this, ISU students become well-known throughout the state and remain on top. Thus, student teaching is a unique experience for all involved and the ultimate goal of all students of education.

New Responsibilities with New Challenges

Students who are interested and excited about their projects are a reward in themselves.

Each individual becomes important to the teacher.

[illegible]

Sometimes graduate students must work out theories together. Two heads are better than one when it comes to modern math.

Graduate work in chemistry requires endless hours in the laboratory noting reactions of experiments.

Graduate students at ISU vary in fields from art to chemistry and physical sciences to English and foreign languages. They spend many hours in the library at their carrels. With thesis papers, they have much to do. But all isn't work. Some are counselors in the dorms, others live off-campus in co-ops and apartments. Through these different places they get new and enlightening experiences concerning their lives to come. A graduate student takes on many obligations and jobs. Some are graduate assistants who help teachers with large lecture sections. This may involve grading papers, taking attendance, and even lecturing sometimes. All these aspects broaden the scope of the graduate student at ISU.

GRADUATE STUDENTS Enlightening Experience

Randy Wassell, a graduate student in art, devotes much time to experimenting with steel sculpture.

SENIOR ADVISORY BOARD

Faced with the difficult task of maintaining a cohesive, unified body of seniors, while they are separated by student teaching activities, the Senior Advisory Board continues to conduct activities in which all of the class can be involved. In September the seniors sponsored the Cellar Dwellers, a folk singing group. Next the class built the homecoming board float. The "J. B.'s," an all girl band, supplied the music for an all school dance in November; two more dances were held in February and March. The class of 1966 tried to make their senior class gift one that can be useful, as well as being a remembrance of the class. The commencement activities were the main concern of the advisory board; they chose a speaker, maintained the sale of graduation announcements, and worked with the commencement board on the details of the commencement exercises. Although this was the last, busy year for the seniors at ISU, many busy, useful days will follow for each of them.

Hans Conried entertained his audience with his wit and humor in a scene from the "Absence of a Cello," a performance in February.

Young Democrats brought Adlai Stevenson III to campus to speak.

Hans Conried describes his acting career as "a long, long march in eternity."

Jay and the Americans were the Big Four special this year.

JUNIOR ADVISORY BOARD

After setting goals to get many juniors involved in the class activities and to provide activities that will develop a more college-like atmosphere on this campus, the Junior Advisory Board began its activities with a dance, "The Barefoot Ball." At Christmas time the class, filled with Christmas spirit, provided clothes and toys for the fourteen children in a needy family. In February another unique activity was sponsored by the class; everyone in the ballroom enjoyed a pajama dance, called "The Pa-Junior Dance." Awards were given to the couple displaying the most original and attractive nightwear. Also individual awards were given to the best dressed man and best dressed woman—in pajamas. The dance was a definite success. The sophomores and juniors together sponsored the Brothers Four for entertainment in March. The board improved and added to their annual Ft. Lauderdale Day. The final activity to climax the year was the Junior-Senior Prom.

The sophomore class, under the leadership of the Sophomore Advisory Board, sponsored two major projects: the queen's float at Homecoming and the Sophomore Cotillion in May. As well as these major activities, the sophomores also found time for some very meaningful and worthwhile projects. With the idea to try to do good things with their money and with a foundation of comparable projects from the previous year, the class first sponsored a dance, "Mister Media" in November with The Redcoats providing the music. The profits from this dance became funds for two homes in the area, Booker T. Washington Home and Victory Hall. The Christmas project, "Stuff a Stocking Project," donated money to Booker T. Washington Home for additional athletic equipment and to Victory Hall for furnishings in a new addition. Also, in this spirit, the board took the boys of Victory Hall to a basketball game in February. Joining the junior class, the board brought the Brothers Four to campus in March for a hootenanny.

FRESHMAN ADVISORY BOARD

A freshman wrote a letter to the Vidette in which he challenged the class advisory boards to answer this question and act accordingly, "What can we do to contribute to the quality of our class, of our university, and, in a larger sense, of the world of which universities and education are such a vital part?" Surprisingly, there have been some answers, and the Freshman Advisory Board has found some projects which correlate with these answers. A committee was set up to try to establish a "College Bowl" type quiz tournament, and a trial was held in the spring. The class sponsored two dances: in December "The Inmates" made their first appearance on campus and in March "The Shattertones" played. A group began a radio show on WGLT to promote the activities of the class, and the board set up the selling of class sweatshirts. With some experience behind them and with the help of their able adviser, Dr. Kenneth Fitch, the class will be ready for the busy years that follow.

The focus of the 1966 Index is mood—the mood of the campus and its students. The cover, the pictures, the copy, and the layout have all been interrelated by competent and co-operative editors and their staffs to achieve this feeling. In the opening section we have found no need for the use of captions; poetry sets the mood and explains the pictures. In the following sections a definite layout plan is carried out by following a page division of three columns. Throughout the book the copy follows the tone of the layout, informing and explaining.

My hope, as this book is published, is that those who look at it and read it will be aware of what we have attempted to convey.

Jan Apland, Editor
